

Khrushchev Agrees to Parley on Nuclear Ban

Indicates Russia May Resume Tests Pending International Agreement

London — (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev has agreed to east-west talks on banning nuclear weapons tests but indicated the Soviet Union might break its own ban and hold some more tests before an international suspension is arranged.

Moscow radio said last night the Soviet premier accepted a week-old U. S. British proposal to begin talks Oct. 31.

The United States suggested holding them at U. N. headquarters in New York but said Geneva would be acceptable. Khrushchev said Geneva would be most suitable.

The western proposal was made Aug. 22, one day after communist and western scientists agreed in Geneva that a worldwide system of enforcing a ban by detecting nuclear explosions was "technically feasible." Khrushchev endorsed this scientific conclusion, which did not involve a political decision on actually banning tests.

Both the United States and Britain, who have nuclear test series going at present, offered to suspend their tests for a trial year from the beginning of political talks. They stipulated, however, that this would depend on Russia's continuing her own unilateral suspension of tests.

Announcement March 31

The Soviet Union announced March 31, shortly after ending a long series of nuclear tests, that it had halted all nuclear explosions but would feel free to start again if the United States and Britain failed to stop also. Both nations had already announced test schedules.

Khrushchev said Russia "naturally cannot allow the security interests of the Soviet Union to be prejudiced" by western tests. They "relieve the Soviet Union of the obligation it had assumed unilaterally," the Soviet boss said.

President Happy Russia Agrees to Join Conference

Newport, R. I. — (AP) — President Eisenhower today expressed gratification that Russia has agreed to join the United States and Britain in talks on banning nuclear weapons tests.

The president's reaction to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Moscow announcement was reported to newsmen at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters by his press secretary, James C. Hagerty.

Hagerty replied "sure" when asked whether the United States would be willing to hold the talks in Geneva as proposed by Khrushchev.

Russia accepted the U. S. British suggestion the talks start Oct. 31.

any indication that Russia might have more tests in the offing.

The U. S. government announced yesterday plans for 10 low-powered atomic blasts in Nevada before Oct. 31. Britain is currently conducting a nuclear test series in the central Pacific.

In private, Washington authorities expressed delight without surprise.

Answers Questions

Khrushchev, who is vacationing in the Crimea, published his statement in the communist party newspaper Pravda in the form of answers to leading questions. Some of his charges of western evasiveness on coming to a ban agreement read just like unsigned editorial comments the Soviet news agency Tass has been putting out in recent days.

He said the purpose of test ban talks "must be to conclude an agreement to end for all time tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons of all kinds by all states." This was not likely to please the French, who are trying to explode their first atomic weapons and don't want to be bothered by other people's bans.

Khrushchev proposed that an agreed limit on the talks be set beforehand. He suggested that "these negotiations could be brought to a conclusion within two or three weeks." The United States always has fought shy of such limits for fear of Soviet stalling tactics until it is too late to hammer out a realistic agreement.

Students, Oil Workers Stage 5-Hour Riot

Quelled by Police Gunfire; 1 Dead And 33 Hospitalized

Mexico City — (AP) — Students and oil workers with separate complaints united in five hours of rioting yesterday before police quelled them with gunfire.

A bank employee was killed accidentally when a bullet fired at a mob smashed through a bank window. Hospital authorities said 33 persons were hospitalized with wounds, many from gunfire. Scores of others were known to have been injured by stones, clubs and tear gas grenades.

Most of the rioters were students ostensibly protesting poor bus service and workers of Pemex, the government oil monopoly, who are involved in a union squabble that has no connection with the student complaints.

More trouble was feared at a student demonstration today which may attract sympathizing railway hands, telegraphers, teachers and oil workers.

Await Decision At Little Rock

Central High Action Considered Vital In Legal Battle

Little Rock, Ark. — (AP) — The Little Rock school board today pondered a question important to the south and the nation: When will Central High school open for the fall term?

School Supt. Virgil Blossom announced the board will decide Monday.

Wrapped up in this seemingly trivial point is the question of whether Central High opens as a segregated institution with federal court blessing.

If it opens Sept. 8—the date previously set by the board—it will be under no court orders to integrate.

If the board sets the fall term's start at Sept. 15, the U. S. Supreme court may have by that time ordered Central High to continue desegregation for a second straight year.

Figuring in the board's decision, Blossom said, is the supreme court's erroneous assumption that school will not open until Sept. 15. For this reason, Chief Justice Earl Warren Thursday called for a second hearing Sept. 11 on whether Central High should integrate immediately or follow lower court rulings which give Little Rock a breather.

The school board itself asked the courts to permit the delay after demonstrators rioted and federal troops were called in last fall when nine Negro children entered previously all-white Central.

Round Lake, Ill. — (AP) — A father and three sons died early today when a fire trapped them in their 5-room home in this northeastern Illinois resort community.

The mother and another boy, the only other child, were burned but escaped through the flaming wreckage of the 1-story structure.

The dead were identified as James Olsen, 56, and three sons, James, Jr., 16; Michael, 6, and Joseph, 4.

Mrs. Ruth Olsen, 40, and Robert, 13, were taken to St. Therese hospital in Waukegan, about 15 miles east of Round Lake. She was reported in serious condition.

Military Men See Early Communist Attack on Quemoy

Bombardment Slackens but Heavier Assault Indicated

Taipei, Formosa — (AP) — Communist fire slackened off today after pouring more than 12,000 shells into the nationalist-held Quemoy island group in 24 hours but Peiping threatened heavier bombardments to come.

The communist ministry of national defense ordered its artillery units "to redouble their attack" on the islands just off the Chinese mainland, Peiping radio said. It claimed that heavy casualties had been inflicted on nationalist troops in the 8-day bombardment.

Most military men on Formosa have concluded that the shelling is the prelude to a communist attempt to capture the Quemoy group soon. The nationalists say they're ready.

See Invasion Attempt

In Washington, U. S. officials braced for a possible red China invasion of the Chinese nationalist offshore islands over the Labor day weekend. Such a move would bring a showdown on whether the United States intends to defend the islands and become involved in combat with red Chinese forces.

From early Friday until 2:31 a.m. today the reds poured 12,345 shells into the islands, the nationalist defense ministry said. Then they decreased the fire, hurling only 390 shells at the nationalists until shortly after dawn when they switched to an occasional round of shells carrying propaganda leaflets.

Wilber M. Brucker, U. S. secretary of the army, and Gen. I. D. White, commander in chief of the U. S. army in the Pacific, flew to Formosa for talks.

The two officials will confer with President Chiang Kai-shek and other nationalist leaders before departing Monday.

180 Monitoring Stations Could Trace Atomic Tests

BY WARREN ROGERS, JR.

Washington — (AP) — East-west experts officially reported today that sneak atomic weapons tests could be detected by 180 monitoring stations around the world. About 10 would be in the United States, 14 in Russia and 8 in red China.

The report was the result of seven weeks of secret talks among scientists from the United States, Russia, Britain, France, Canada, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Romania.

Avoid Politics

These technical talks at Geneva steered clear of political questions, like U. S. refusal to recognize red China, leaving that to the diplomats.

President Eisenhower called a week ago for diplomatic talks starting Oct. 31 and looking toward an international agreement to halt nuclear weapons tests. So far Russia has not responded. Eisenhower offered to suspend nuclear tests unilaterally, as Russia did five months ago, when the talks start.

The scientists' 25-page report, in English and Russian, was made public by the state department to coincide with its release in the seven other countries. It will be followed in about a month by the verbatim record of the scientists' discussions at Geneva.

The report called for: 1. A network of control posts around the globe. About 170 would be land-based and 10 aboard ships. They would be manned by 30 detection experts each, plus 20 subordinates like typists and clerks, for a total staff of 9,000.

2. Creation of an "international control organ." It would run the global system, pick the staff, select the detection devices, study reports and generally see to it that no nation cheated on any international ban on nuclear tests.

Lightning Bolt Hits Power Sub-Station

Destroys Oil Circuit Breaker; City Without Lights 19 Minutes

The $15,000 oil circuit breaker in the sub-station adjacent to the Appleton power plant of the Wisconsin - Michigan Power company was destroyed by a direct hit of lightning about 2:17 this morning in one of the worst electrical storms experienced by the company.

Heavy rain and lightning accompanied by winds swept the Fox Cities area about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon and again at 2 o'clock this morning.

The direct hit at the sub-station blew up the breaker and set some 80 gallons of oil on fire. The rain was so heavy at the time, the blaze was extinguished by it, an unusual occurrence in an oil fire.

Dogs Safe After Rocket Journey

Russians Report 2 Animals Went Up 281 Miles

Moscow — (AP) — Moscow's "bring-em-back-alive" rocketing of two dogs 281 miles into space has moved her a step closer to achieving the same feat with man, but Soviet scientists have stressed there is still a long way to go.

The Soviet government announced Friday night it had shot two dogs into space aboard a one-stage rocket and brought them back in good health.

This is more than twice the highest altitude achieved in similar experiments reported in the Soviet Union. But it is only another in a long series of tests which Russian scientists say must precede any Soviet attempt to risk human life by propelling man into space.

Landed Successfully

First reports from the latest experiment gave no indication that a similar attempt with a human being was in the offing.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the two female dogs—named Belyanka and Peostroya — were sent aloft Wednesday from a spot in European Russia and landed just where the scientists intended.

Tass said the dogs, weighing 18 pounds each, were placed in a hermetically sealed cabinet. It did not indicate how they came down. Previous reports on similar Soviet experiments over the last three years have said the dogs were parachuted down.

The dogs came down by parachute. Lt. Gen. Anatoly A. Blagonravov told the London Daily Mirror by telephone from Moscow. The Soviet scientist said they were aloft 25 minutes and "were quite happy during the flight."

State Educators See Shortage of Science Teachers

Madison — The call of school bells in Wisconsin next week will also signal the start of what educators say is the state's most serious shortage of science teachers in history.

"The choice here is between not offering the course or having someone teach it who is not fully qualified," Russell F. Lewis, the assistant superintendent of public instruction for Wisconsin, said Thursday. He said the choice will be left to local authorities.

Lewis said the shortage of high school physics, mathematics and chemistry teachers is worse than ever before. Shortages of high school teachers of English, business education and physical education for girls are about the same as last year.

George E. Watson, the state superintendent of public instruction, said classroom space is holding its own and schools have expanded sufficiently to handle expected increases in enrollments.

Lewis said Wisconsin also faces a shortage of teachers for kindergarten and 1-room rural school classes.

Some 175,000 public school children will ride to school this year, Lewis said, through bus transportation programs. He said this is several thou-

Blonde Evy Norlund, Miss Denmark, is the only one of the 79 entrants in the Miss Universe contest who has a motion picture contract. Columbia Pictures plans to give her the same promotional build-up it gave Kim Novak, another beauty of former years who, like Miss Norlund, didn't make the finals in Miss Universe competition.

Danish Beauty Has Movie Contract

Evy Norlund Only Miss Universe Contestant Picked for Film Work

BY JAMES RACON
AP Motion Picture Writer

Hollywood — (AP) — It's nice to win a beauty contest but it's better to lose — if you want to become a movie star.

The history of beauty contest winners has been dismal in Hollywood, but losers go on to stardom. Take Vera Miles, who lost out in the Miss America contest some years back. Even she can't remember the name of the girl who won the year she entered.

In the recent Miss Universe contest, Evy Norlund as Miss Denmark wasn't one of the five finalists. Yet she is the only one of the 79 international beauties who wound up with a movie contract.

Plan Build-up — Max Arnow, talent director at Columbia Pictures, watched the telecast of the Long Beach beauty pageant. It was a miniature screen test for the 20-year-old Evy.

Arnow had a look at another beauty contest loser a few years ago. He took her to the late Harry Cohn and urged that she be signed. That was Kim Novak.

He has the same feeling about Evy — also a blonde. She's getting the same build-up that Kim got four years ago. Columbia even fixed her up with a room at the nearby studio club, the YWCA-like habitat that Kim called home even after she reached stardom.

First Visit Here

This is Evy's first visit to the United States, although she speaks English fluently. Born in Copenhagen, she considers herself anything but a typical Scandinavian.

She says she's a poor swimmer and does not ski at all. She's even brown-eyed. But like most Scandinavian girls, she's a good cook.

Evy had no dramatic training before Columbia signed her. The daughter of an architect, she was a top fashion model in Copenhagen when she won out over several hundred girls for the Miss Denmark title.

New Catch Basin Grates Cause Bike Trouble, Boy Says

City officialdom has received its first complaint about a new type catch basin grate. A small boy told one of the aldermen the front wheel of his thin-tired bicycle slipped into one of the openings in one of the grates, damaging the bike and hurting him.

The old type grate used exclusively by the city until three years ago had a bar across the middle to prevent such things. The new ones do not.

The new grates, used only at storm sewer inlets along street gutters where flooding is reported, have long bars about 1 and 7/16 inches apart, space enough for the thin-tired bikes.

Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski said the changes was made at flood trouble locations because the bars on the old grates acted like a dam causing some water to bypass the openings.

Changeover to the newer grates in the trouble spots ended the trouble, he said.

Now, Duszynski said, another solution apparently will have to be found.

180 Monitor Stations May Reveal Tests miles apart—perhaps 6 or 7 in the Pacific and the others in the south Atlantic and Indian oceans.

No Breakdown Given

The 110 continental and island posts would be about 625 miles apart in areas where earthquakes occur, about 1,000 miles apart in others. That would mean 24 in North America, 6 in Europe, 37 in Asia, 7 in Australia, 16 in South America, 16 in Africa, and 4 in Antarctica.

The report did not give a breakdown on how many posts would be set up in each country. That was another political question left for the diplomats. But U. S. officials provided a rule of thumb.

They said it could be figured on a land mass basis. It works this way: Asia measures 17 million square miles, red China 3,760,339 square miles. Thus, red China is almost one-fifth of Asia. The experts assigned 37 posts to Asia. One-fifth of 37 is 7 and a fraction, so red China would get about 6.

On this rough basis, the United States and Canada would get about 10 bases each. European Russia would get about 3 and Asiatic Russia 11 for a total of 14.

The recommended pattern was described as a "5 kiloton system." That meant it could nab with "good probability" any kind of nuclear explosion—underground, underwater, ground, high altitude—down to those with the power of 5,000 tons of TNT.

Down to Kiloton

Below 5 kilotons, the report said, detection was difficult, and identification, especially when there were natural occurrences like earthquakes in the area, was next to impossible.

But it concluded that to set up a foolproof system, down to 1 kiloton or so, would require an enormous chain of monitoring stations.

Even so, the report said the recommended network could spot a nuclear blast down to 1 kiloton on the ground or as high as 60 miles. Above that altitude, it said it would be difficult to say for sure it was a nuclear explosion and not simply lightning.

Explosions down to 1 kiloton in the ocean or underground would be detected, it said. But they might be confused with earthquakes since 1-kiloton earthquakes occur about 10,000 times a year.

Aerial Inspection

However, the report said such confusion might be solved by on-the-spot inspection. It said this could be done by sending an aircraft to the area to take air samples and search for radioactive debris or clouds.

Such aircraft would carry, besides the detection experts, observers from the atomic countries—the United States, Britain and Russia—and possibly other nations.

The conference recommended combined use of all the known basic devices for detecting nuclear explosions: Acoustic wave recorders, seismographs, radio signal recorders, radioactive debris analyzers, and aircraft-mounted filters.

Touching base with the future, the report noted:

"The conference of experts has not considered the problems of the detection of nuclear explosions which might be conducted in cosmic space."

Telephone Company To Present Proposals

For New Alarm System

The Wisconsin Telephone company will present its proposals for a new fire and police alarm system to the council's public safety committee after a dinner meeting Tuesday night.

Invitations for similar meetings have been extended to other council committees. Fire Chief Paul Neumann has told the safety committee he strongly opposes a change of systems.

The State Superintendent of Schools, George Watson, seated right, spoke on the problems of today's education during a city-wide teachers meeting Friday afternoon at Morgan school. The all-day workshop was part of the teacher orientation program. Seated with him are Miss Martha Sorensen, left, director of elementary education; and Mrs. Donald Himebaugh, center, Appleton High school Spanish teacher. Standing, from left, are Carl Bertram, Appleton Vocational school director; Werner Witte, AHS vice principal, and J. P. Mann, superintendent of Appleton schools.

Correspondence Nursing Course Not Accredited

Correspondence courses in nursing are commercial enterprises and without state accreditation, according to Adele G. Stahl, R. N., director of the state department of nurses.

A person who takes such a course is prohibited by Wisconsin statutes from representing himself as a trained practical nurse, licensed attendant, licensed attendant, registered nurse, professional nurse or certified nurse.

He can take no position but a nursing aide's, which requires no training. Every reputable hospital has an on-the-job training program for aides and pays them a salary while they are being trained.

Programs in the eight state accredited practical nursing schools in Wisconsin are cheaper than correspondence courses, the director said. Three of these schools are in the vocational and adult schools in Green Bay, Neenah-Menasha and Fond du Lac.

Graduates of this program, unlike those who finish correspondence courses, are eligible for admission to the licensing examination for licensed trained practical nurses.

Chorus Girl Lauded

For Stand-in Role

In 'My Fair Lady'

London — (AP) — A $70-a-week chorus girl in the hit musical "My Fair Lady" won rave notices for her stand-in performance in the show's feminine lead role.

Tonia Lee, 24, stepped in for star Julie Andrews with six hours notice when Miss Andrews was stricken with tonsillitis.

Miss Lee, who had never rehearsed lines with star Rex Harrison, played the role of the cockney heroine, Eliza Doolittle, without a hitch.

Newspapers hailed her performance as a "triumph," "wonderful," "an achievement." The audience called her out for five curtain calls and Harrison said, "You were wonderful. We never had a moment's worry."

Miss Lee commented, "I had whole families of butterflies in my tummy."

Youth Smashes Car

In Fit of Anger

Dixon, Ill. — (AP) — Arthur L. Wolf, 21, got so mad at his stalled car that he took a crank and smashed the windshield, headlights and side windows and was hammering on a fender when arrested.

The car gears had jammed on a parking lot. Police Magistrate Lawrence E. Boos fined Wolf $25 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge and jailed him when he was unable to pay the fine.

School Critics Attack America, Watson Says

Teachers Must Recognize Criticism 'For What It Is,' Speaker Contends

Critics of today's schools are criticizing the traditional American concept of free, universal education, State Supt. of Schools George Watson contended Friday afternoon. He spoke at Morgan school during a city-wide teachers meeting.

"I'm not saying we should not be criticized or these critics aren't honest — many, many of them are. But if their attacks presume we can change our idea of free, universal education, then we should recognize it (the attack) for what it is," he contended.

In Appleton, the superintendent asserted, teachers must unanimously make the effort to "hold high the standards of scholastic performance, character, conduct and ideas to develop in that pattern the best and highest standards possible.

No Middle Ground

Watson called upon teachers to recognize attacks upon the school "for what they are" and contended there is no middle ground—either youngsters are entitled to an education or they are not.

He spoke condescendingly of some of the contemporary critics of modern education, most notably Arthur Bestor of the University of Illinois, and said many of their attacks are filled with spurious statistics and reasoning.

Watson also contended that "what is a fad for one student is a necessity for another."

Turning to other problems of public school systems, he noted the birth rate has been accelerating since 1935 when 52,000 children were born. In 1957, he stated, 96,300 infants were born and he voiced a wonder whether the acceleration would cease.

Another problem, he continued, is the structure of school districts which he thinks is outdated. In 1956 and '57, Wisconsin had 880 1-room schools be shown.

with registration of less than 15 students, Watson stated. There were 10 schools with less than five pupils and, in 1957 and '58, the state had 11 high schools with less than 50 pupils.

"A good high school can't be run economically with less than 300 students. But a typical Wisconsin high school has less than 200," he contended.

Mathematics Talk

The morning speaker was Dr. Raphael Wagner, University of Wisconsin professor of mathematics, who offered a brief history of the subject and spoke of an experiment currently being conducted in Milwaukee and a few other school systems.

Under the experiment, first, second and third graders are using a modern version of the abacus as a calculating device while older students use a small calculating machine. The youngsters also learn the regular paper and pencil methods of calculations, he explained.

Results show the students using the calculating devices learned the principles of mathematics three times faster than those who learned by the pencil and paper method alone, he said.

Booster Game Set at Freedom

Greased Pig, Prizes To Highland Tilt With Kaukauna Squad

Freedom — Plans for the booster baseball game between the Freedom Merchants and the Kaukauna Klubbers of the Fox River Valley league have been completed, the tilt scheduled to get underway at 1:30 Sunday afternoon at the Freedom park.

Although the league schedule has been completed, the game was arranged to give the Klubbers a final chance to chalk up a win over the Freedom team this season. Kaukauna dropped the opening contest 16 to 13 and in the second meeting came out on the short end of a 7 to 1 score.

Special events planned in conjunction with the game will be a 3-inning exhibition tilt between the old timers of Freedom and the present squad, a greased pig catching contest and the presentation of about $100 in gifts to persons attending.

Mike Vanden Heuvel is expected to open on the mound for Freedom with Joe DeBruin, Gerry Hopfensperger or Joe Van Linn on the hill for Kaukauna. Hopfensperger and DeBruin worked the first game for Kaukauna while Van Linn took the defeat in the second outing.

Vanden Heuvel needed help from Ron Newouse in the first meeting between the two clubs but he went all the way in the second and limited Kaukauna to three hits.

Class Start Set At Wittenberg

Wittenberg — Classes will start in all schools of the Wittenberg public school district Tuesday with a half-day session in the morning. Registration will take place and general procedures will be explained.

Buses will run about the same routes as in 1958-59 except that the return trips will be made about 11:30 in the morning.

School lunch and the regular transportation schedule are to begin Wednesday. About 950 students, including approximately 620 elementary pupils at Eland, Elderon, Galloway and Wittenberg, and 330 high school pupils are expected to enroll.

General maintenance projects throughout the district schools have been largely completed, with the exception of modernization of the high school locker rooms and basement corridor.

Major work on the new high school addition has reached the finishing stage. Rudolph Hanson, general contractor, stated that work is being rushed on all phases of construction and that the new wing could probably be occupied for school purposes Wednesday.

Little Wolf School to Begin Classes Sept. 2

Seek Opinion In Court Case

Waupaca Prosecutor Wants Ruling on Exemption From Law

Waupaca — Dist. Atty. Gerald K. Anderson will request an opinion from the attorney general's office at Madison to determine if implement dealers are exempt from a special permit for hauling over-length or height machinery.

The question came up Thursday morning in Justice George Whalen's court following an arrest July 31, by the state patrol of a Miller Implement company truck, St. Nazianz, carrying a thresher on the highway.

The truck and threshing unit was over the legal height limit. Arthur Scheller, defense attorney, claimed implement dealers transporting equipment are under the same law as farmers transporting farm machinery over highways. Farmers are exempt from getting permits to haul over-size machinery.

An opinion will also be sought on whether state police have a right to detain an implement dealer in such a case. The trial will be resumed following an opinion from the attorney general.

Postpone Council Meeting at Marion

Marion — The Marion City council will meet at 7:30 Monday evening, Sept. 7, at the city hall. The meeting is being held a week later than the regular date, which comes on Labor day.

Wittenberg — The Wittenberg Community club held a picnic at the Elderon park Wednesday evening and made plans to contact local churches to cooperate in a campaign for UNICEF on Halloween instead of the usual "trick or treat" night.

Rural Appleton Man Elected President of Greenville Bowlers

Greenville — Earl Jentz, route 2, Appleton, was elected president of the National Couples bowling league Thursday evening.

Howard Palmbach was elected vice - president and Mrs. Joe Schoenhaar re-elected secretary-treasurer. The league will bowl every other Friday evening beginning Sept. 12 at Drepahl's alleys, Hortonville. Cards were played after the meeting.

Marion Police Seek Burglars

Marion — The police are investigating three burglaries that occurred in the city within a week.

The latest theft was about $80 in cash from the till at the Moericke Hardware store. The burglary was discovered by Chester Moericke, the owner, when he opened for business Thursday morning.

Police Chief Alfred Brazille said the thief apparently gained entrance through a broken window in the front furnace room. Some checks and change were left in the till when the thief left the building on Main street through the back door.

Bill's Market was robbed of about $36 in cash and cigarettes sometime Sunday night and the Marion Motor company reported the loss of $130 Monday morning.

The missing money was returned to the motor company Wednesday after Sheriff Floyd Taylor spent Tuesday questioning suspects. The money was slipped under the company's front door.

Back-to-School time means "good looking shoe" time for Fox Cities students of all ages, and parents are bringing in many of last year's still serviceable school shoes for "sprucing up" to meet the needs of this year's term. It's surprising, say Jerry and Bill Lyman, owners of Jerry's Shoe Repair, 126 W. Washington street, what a new pair of heels and soles will do to make an older pair of shoes look and feel like new again. Jerry can apply new heels "while you wait" for his customers' convenience. Bill (left) and Jerry (right) are shown at work in their well-equipped, well-lighted shoe repair shop in the basement of the John Balliet hotel, just north of Prange's floor coverings store.

Several lines of new dress and work shoes await Jerry's customers when they come in with their repair jobs of all kinds.

Bondshire men's dress shoes, from $8.95 and up, are available this fall in all styles: loafers, wing-tips, brogues and shoe-lock models. Loafers of another brand are available as low as $4.95 a pair.

A complete line of work shoes by Winnebago and Chipewewa can be seen at the local store. Cork-soled work oxfords and shoes are stocked, and specialized work shoes such as garagemen's shoes in D,

C, and triples, linemen's boots with Neoprene soles, and insulated boots (the real Hunkidore Chippewas) are available for sportsmen and outdoor workers.

Central Location
Jerry's location provides plenty of space for the operation of the business and all the specialized shoe equipment necessary. In addition, it is centrally located for the convenience of all customers. Jerry renders not only expert shoe repairing work, but prompt, dependable service. His experience and skills, together with the most modern equipment, enable him to turn out quality work at the most moderate prices, he says.

Rubber galoshes, stadium boots and fishing waders are expertly repaired and leather elbows and knee patches will be sewed on any garment.

Dyes Shoes
Shoe dyeing, too, is ably handled here, and Fox Cities folks may have a pair of their favorite shoes dyed to match any ensemble. Jerry's has a complete line of dyes, shoe cleaners, polishes, cremes, polishing kits and shoe trees.

A Familiar Sight at the receiving room of Zaug's Modern Vending service at this time of the year is shown in the picture above. Over 2,000 cases of candy will be delivered to schools throughout the state between now and Labor Day, according to Roger Zaug, owner of the firm. The picture, believes Zaug, is proof positive of the well-known fact that the kids love candy. The firm is located at 411 S. Pearl street, New London.

ful information for car-owners confronted with several common everyday problems.

To remove chewing gum from the seats or floor pads of your car, try this trick from Tusler's: Chill the gum by putting a few ice cubes on it and around it. When the gum has hardened, chip it off with a dull knife.

For best results, stains should be removed from upholstery as soon as possible. Tusler's service manager advises, but fall cleaning time offers an "in-the-mood" time to clean up the following stains:

Candy
Candy stains (other than chocolate) can be removed by rubbing with a cloth soaked with very hot water. If the stain persists, rub lightly with a cloth wet with a volatile cleaner.

Candy stains from cream and fruit-filled chocolates can be removed by rubbing with a cloth soaked in lukewarm soap suds (mild neutral soap) and scraping, while wet, with a dull knife. Then rub with a cloth dipped in cold water.

Chocolate
Stains resulting from chocolate or milk chocolate can be removed by rubbing with a cloth wet with lukewarm water. After the spot is dry, rub lightly with a cloth dipped in a volatile cleaner.

Lipstick
Composition of lipsticks vary, making the stains difficult to remove. In some instances a volatile cleaner may remove the stain. If stain remains after repeated applications of the volatile cleaner, it is best to leave it rather than try other measures.

Grease and Oil
As much as possible should

ped in clear water.
If the stain remains after the use of water and ammonia, apply a thick paste of corn starch and cold water to the stained area. Allow the paste to remain until it has dried and absorbed the stain. Then remove the dry starch. For bad stains, several applications of starch paste may be necessary.

Fruit
Practically all fruit stains can be removed with very hot water applied to the spot with a clean cloth. Scrape with a dull knife, then rub vigorously with a cloth wet with very hot water. If the stain is very old or deep, it may be necessary to pour very hot water directly on the spot, then scrape and rub the area.

If the above treatments do not remove the stain, allow the fabric to dry thoroughly, then rub lightly with a clean cloth dipped in a volatile cleaner.

Direct application of hot water to fabrics is not recommended for general use since discoloration usually results. Soap and water are not recommended since they will probably set the stain and cause a permanent discoloration.

Ice Cream
The same procedure is recommended for the removal of ice cream stains as that used in removing fruit stains.

If the stain persists, rubbing the spot with a cloth wet with warm soap suds (mild neutral soap) may be used after the initial treatment with hot water. This soap treatment should be followed by rubbing with a clean cloth wet with cold water. After this dries, rubbing lightly with a cloth wet with volatile cleaner will clear up the last stain.

Nausea
Sponge with a clean cloth, dipped in clear cold water. Wash lightly with soap (mild neutral); using a clean cloth and lukewarm water. Then rub with another clean cloth dipped in cold water. If any of the stain remains, gently rub clean with a cloth moistened with a volatile cleaner.

New Cyclomatt Mattress Topper Is Announced by Niagara Store

Newly added to the line of products handled by Niagara Cycle Massage at the Valley Fair shopping center is a product to aid the uneasy sleeper, an amazing new Cyclomatt Mattress Topper, the store announced Friday.

The Niagara Cyclomatt is a revolutionary new, scientifically-designed foam rubber mattress topper containing two Cyclo - Massage units, each with separate intensity controls, timed to shut off automatically following a pre-set period, usually after you fall asleep.

Gentle, deeply penetrating head to toe massage action helps to relax taut muscles and tense nerves and increases blood circulation in the area of application.

Tested in Hospitals
Hospital tests with hundreds of people have proven the effectiveness of this newest application of the oldest pain-and tension-relieving boon known to medical science — massage, the store points out.

A matchless feeling of well-being is experienced while resting on this new, only-one-of-its-kind sleep and health aid, says the store. Deep energy-building natural sleep — the drugless way — is the result. The massage activates all body tissues and passes right into — and through — bones and joints.

With the Cyclo - Massage units dynamically balanced, a Cycloid action is achieved: finely-adjusted, minute and almost imperceptible to the sleeper, it is a combination of up-and - down, circular and sideways motion.

Wonderful Relaxer
Cycloid action in the new mattress topper may be counted on to induce deep, energy - restoring drugless sleep, alleviate tension, ease frayed jittery nerves and tightly drawn muscles, increase blood circulation, relieve various types of muscle spasm and pain associated with muscle spasm.

The new Cyclomatt can be set to turn off automatically — then, at a pre-set time, turn on automatically to awaken and refresh you in the morning. It has been medically evaluated in the most favorable light and clinically tested by leading institutions.

Now Being Shown
The units are now being shown and demonstrated at Niagara's store at Valley Fair.

Other new products which have arrived for the Fall season at the store include Niagara Cyclo-Massage chairs in genuine leather, featuring built-in therapeutic heat.

Over-size Niagara chaise lounges allowing enough width for two people to use the lounges at the same time are also in the store's new Fall line along with a new Glide-Out sofa, which now comes with or without arm rests.

Phone number of the Niagara Cycle-Massage store at Valley Fair is RE 4-9742.

Labor Day

One of the most widely celebrated holidays in the American calendar is Labor day, a fitting recognition for that great army of working men and women who are the most numerous Americans as they are the most indispensable supports of the country's economic and spiritual meanings.

We have never been quite sure what "labor" in the American contemporary lexicon means, and suspect that its popular definition is altogether too restricted. In political usage we have been too prone, it has seemed to us, to define the word in organization terms. "Labor" in the language of the politician today means union members, although that is a curiously limited definition. There are in Wisconsin perhaps 400,000 men and women who are enrolled as members of labor organizations. But there are more than a million men and women who earn their livelihoods through the daily exertions of their minds and muscles. It is to all of them on this day that the nation pays deserved tribute.

It is also a memorial for "the anonymous artisans of history." As one of the most literate of the spokesmen of organized labor recently put it, with skill and eloquence, history is only a partly

Six Hundred Millions

The people of Wisconsin are paying for insurance contracts of all kinds at the rate of more than $600 millions a year, says the newly published annual report of the state insurance department.

We live in an era when the ear has become accustomed to astronomical arithmetic, yet the sheer size of this part of our economy may be an effective reminder of the part that insurance plays in our lives. (Perhaps that prospective client who has experienced the importunate solicitations of some of the agents won't be surprised.)

To reduce it to familiar terms, this premium total each year is more than all the persons and corporations of Wisconsin pay to support the state government in its multiplicity of services and purposes, including the handsome share of local government costs that the state finances.

It is the equivalent of two-thirds of the contributions of all of Wisconsin to the giant tax collection machine that is the national government.

We are accustomed to prideful references to the size of our dairy industry, and our tourist industry. The premium payments for insurance in Wisconsin yearly are greater than the estimated annual income of each of these.

More than a third of this total is accounted for by life insurance payments. Life insurance in force in this state is

Political Medicine

Every time some wishful thinker makes much of a Soviet discovery as "international" in scope and not tied up with communist politics, he should review the travesty of an alleged Russian cure for multiple sclerosis.

Multiple sclerosis is a tragic and baffling disease. Afflicting nerve tissue, it leads to muscular weakening. Some patients have had amazing temporary recoveries and just as surprising relapses. There are treatments to ease its effects but reputable physicians admit to no known cure.

In 1956 the Soviet Union announced bombastically that Russian medical research teams had found and isolated the virus causing the disease and had developed a vaccine to cure it. Dr. George Dick of Queen's University, Belfast, was highly sceptical. His examination of the

May Bid Adieu to Acre as Unit of Production Control

As well as he knew the inside of his old straw hat, the farmer long knew what an acre of land was. Through the ages, it had been dependable as the eternal hills as a basis of his life and work.

Given reasonably stable weather, the farmer knew about how much would be produced year after year on that 16-rod plot that he and his ox team could plow in his long working day.

So the most natural thing in the world 25 years ago was for the acre to become the heart and core of the first federal farm programs. Then as now, the plan was to raise farm prices by cutting surpluses. It was done by cutting acres.

Thus the acre became the symbol and synonym of farm production control. The program's very name bespoke the simplicity of the solution. It was called the "acreage allotment program."

To this day, the acre remains the government's basic unit of supply control. The aim is to cut surpluses told tale because, to a considerable extent, it is the chronicle of "the great".

Wrote Mark Starr of the International Ladies' Garment Workers union:

... The warriors who burned the wheatfields get their meed of praise, but the sower and the reaper who labored there are forgotten men. The captain who destroyed the city wears his laurels, but the identity of the stonemason who built it is an anonymous grain upon the sands of time. Behind the ancient civilization of China were the little people who kept the ditches deep. The great armadas had their cabin boys. Columbus did not sail alone. The cathedrals, spiring upwards, express the loving care and pride of untold craftsmen.

To the extent that "labor" means unions in the average man's vocabulary today, these are distressing times. Power and wealth are possessed no more gracefully by some of the workingmen's leaders than by men of other callings. Here in Wisconsin, however, we may be proud that the revelations of unfaithful stewardship as laid bare in the ugly proceedings of the United States Congress lately have no local application. We are confident that organized labor in Wisconsin has been faithful to its trust. In that confidence we can observe Labor day, 1958, with an allegiance to its original purpose and meaning.

now well above $10 billions. The meaning of that figure can best be grasped when it is recalled that it amounts to about two-thirds of the value of all taxable real and personal property in Wisconsin.

In hundreds of thousands of families, here as elsewhere, the life insurance contract is the basis of the family estate. The risks of our crowded highways would be inconceivable without auto casualty insurance and allied lines. The motor vehicle operators and owners who are crowding our Wisconsin highways are now paying out $100 millions a year in motor vehicle insurance premiums.

The staggering size of this business and its enormous commitments for indemnities ranging the scale of human enterprise forcefully suggest the necessity for diligent and imaginative supervision by a public regulatory agency of unquestionable integrity. The legislature wrote insurance examination and regulation laws decades ago, when this was an infant business. The importance of the insurance department's job has been enlarged many times since.

It is good to read in the department's annual report that its staff has been strengthened, that it has applied the intent of the legislature with more punctuality and vigor, and that it is justifying the idea of state responsibility in a field of economic control which would inevitably drift into the hands of Washington officialdom at the slightest hint of default.

"vaccine" showed it to be very much like live rabies vaccine, used on animals but not considered safe for humans. Not only was the alleged cure extremely dangerous, according to Dr. Dick; it had no effect on multiple sclerosis.

This summer a Russian co-discoverer of the virus wrote a surprising letter of semi-agreement to the British Medical Journal. "It is clearly necessary to re-investigate... this virus... As far as treatment is concerned, it is not possible to make further recommendation..." Apparently faced with the prospect of curing or quailing, the Russians chose to recant since the news probably will not be released within the Soviet Union anyway.

Dr. Dick's trip to Moscow to reveal his alarming findings may have paid off in lives. But the hopes of multiple sclerosis victims, used for political aggrandizement, were carelessly and cruelly dashed.

Group Organizes For Repertory Season

New York — Seven actors have organized for a repertory season of Bernard Shaw plays, and won the financial support of other players who have put up $4,200 to launch the venture.

Calling itself Actors Stage company, the group has taken over one of off-Broadway's new showcases, the Gate Theater, and lined up three Shaw plays for staging during the summer, starting with "Candida."

beset by competition by 15-acre wheat farmers everywhere. Most corn farmers ignore allotments. Rice growers clamor for bigger allotments. Cotton farmers plead for lifting the limit from 4 to 10 acres.

All this is behind the farm fight in congress. The pangs of retreat from the acre fan that fight. No alternative for checking surplus production except reducing price incentives to grow surpluses is being pushed. Will farmers accept lower government price supports in return for more freedom from acreage limits? That is the issue.

School Integration Challenge to High Court

Little Rock Issue Tests Court Power

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

Washington — The Little Rock school board wants the supreme court to delay integration at Central High 2½ years because of the trouble integration has caused. But the board hasn't taken the obvious steps itself to end the trouble.

That's the Eisenhower administration's argument, as expressed through the justice department's Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin. He told the court yesterday the trouble-makers in Little Rock are limited in number but that:

1. The board could have but didn't seek a federal court injunction in Little Rock to stop any outsiders from interfering with the school's orderly integration. Violation of such an injunction could mean jail.

Expelled Two

2. The board could have expelled the students causing trouble inside the school — Rankin said only about 25 of them took part in sluggings, spittings and name-calling — but bounced only two.

Rankin joined Thurgood Marshall, lawyer for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in asking the court to refuse the 2½-year delay and order integration resumed immediately. Integration in Central High started last year.

The two men argued: To delay integration because of the troublemakers would be like an invitation to any group, which disliked a court order anywhere, to block it by violence.

The most board's lawyer — Richard C. Butler — said that continued integration at Central High would mean more trouble, the return of federal troops, and interference with Little Rock's education program.

Not Impressed

This didn't seem to impress Chief Justice Warren who asked Butler:

"Can we afford to defer a program of this kind merely because there are elements in a community that will commit violence to prevent it from going into effect?"

It seems like a good guess the court will turn down the board.

Rankin further told the court that before the school board sought a delay there was no evidence it had asked the help of any state or city officials to cope with the disturbances of which it complained.

In its special session yesterday, the court heard arguments from all sides but postponed a decision. Here is a brief explanation of the legal situation which by now is getting complicated:

Before Central High's opening last year, the board had prepared a plan for integration. The school superintendent thought it could be carried out peacefully. This satisfied Federal District Judge Ronald Davies who ordered integration to begin last September.

But then came the mob violence which kept the Negro children out of Central High. President Eisenhower sent in federal troops to see the Davies' order was carried out by holding the mob in check and getting the children to school.

Troops at School

The troops remained throughout the school year and the Negroes went to classes. But tension increased. There were unpleasant incidents inside the school between the white and Negro students.

In June the board went to another federal judge — this time Harry J. Lemley — and asked him to set aside Davies' order and postpone integration. Lemley agreed and ordered integration delayed 2½ years.

Then the NAACP moved in.

It asked the next higher court, the U. S. Eighth circuit court of appeals in St. Louis, to overrule Lemley and order integration continued when Central High opened this September. The circuit court did. The next step was up to the board.

There was one more court, the supreme court, to which it could appeal. This required time. To give the board the needed time the circuit court held up on its own order to continue integration by granting what's called a stay.

Can Be Settled

The next move was up to the NAACP. It asked the supreme court — before the board could file its appeal — to set aside the circuit court's stay order and put into effect the circuit court's order that integration must be continued.

The supreme court listened to arguments from the board, the NAACP and Rankin. But it handed down no decision. Instead, it told the board to file its appeal by Sept. 8 and that the court would hear more arguments Sept. 11.

This was a hurry-up move by the supreme court to get to a decision before Central High opens its fall term. Thus, by acting on the appeal, the court can clear up the whole business on or soon after Sept. 11.

Recession Waning

Public Purchasing Patterns Remain Steady

By Elmo Roper and Associates

If those who have things for sale have been unhappy lately, the cause is simple: nearly one-third of the nation has been buying less than usual during recent months. Nationwide survey results show also that buying restraint has kept pretty close pace with actual wage reduction and is not the product of unfounded economic anxieties. Here is the public's buying pattern:

Would you say that in the last few months you have speeded up purchases or bought more than usual, or would you say that you have put off purchases or bought less than usual, or has your buying been about the same as usual?

Bought more than usual 8%
Bought the same as usual 55%
Bought less than usual 21%
Express no opinion 2%

And here is the pattern of purchasing power:

Family income is higher than a year ago 14%
Family income is the same as a year ago 52%
Family income is less than a year ago or a family member unemployed 32%
Express no opinion 2%

Although income increases have not been fully reflected in expanding buying just about as many people have cut back their purchases as have had cutbacks in their incomes. In other words, while today's retail markets may be sagging, the average American consumer shows no signs of panic.

The consumer caution that does exist is spread widely throughout the country, with the East and the Far West showing slightly more economic stability than the South and Midwest. Medium to big-city cities seem to be holding up best, with a somewhat sharper buying decline shown in small towns and rural areas.

Buy Less of What?

The next question, asked of the 31 per cent who bought less than usual, was this: What have you bought less of?

Which of the things on this list have you bought less of or put off buying? Any others?

Bought less than usual 31%
Clothing 18%
Furniture 15%
Vacation 11%
Entertainment 11%
Automobile 9%
Household improvements 8%
Major appliances 8%
Meat 6%
Small appliances 5%
Housing 5%
Other food 5%
Television 4%
Don't know or no answer 1%

New clothes have been clearly the most expendable item on people's shopping lists. More than half of the 31 per cent, or nearly one out of five Americans, said they put off buying that new suit or dress, or at least that new pair of gloves. Clothing-wise, women have been even more austere than men. Furniture is second on the list of delayed purchases. But it must be a sign of this country's mood — and its fat cushion of prosperity — that vacations and entertainment, the most obvious "extras" on the list, are not where American families are doing their major retrenching.

Fifth on the list comes automobiles, the subject of so much discussion and debate this past spring. Auto purchases — both new and used — were delayed by 9 per cent of the population, which means somewhere between four and five million cars — which is a lot of cars. This, of course, does not guarantee that all these cars would have been bought in more prosperous times. It does mean that in the thinking of 9 per cent of the population the idea of buying a car, whether a serious consideration or a fanciful notion, receded in the list of things to buy.

So far, the recession has cut very slightly into the basic necessities of living, with only 6 per cent saying they are eating less meat and only 5 per cent saying they have cut down on other foods — some of which may be due to sons being drafted or daughters marrying. To those directly concerned, however, the fact that they are in a small statistical minority will be little comfort. Among people whose normal standard of living is barely adequate, 12 per cent are eating meat less often these days, and 9 per cent are seeing less of other foods on the dinner table.

What is the solution to the present buying decline? According to the public, it does not lie in their hands — only 6 per cent names "buying more" as the best recession remedy. As reported in an earlier column, they await instead anti-recession action on the part of labor, government and to a lesser extent, business.

Hear Few Specific Suggestions for Control of Boating But Most Residents Agree Some Form of Regulation Now Needed

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — A new element in the problem of public regulation of boating in public recreational waters of the state has been introduced at hearings of the legislature's interim committee studying the matter.
So crowded with boats are some of the more popular and accessible lakes in the state, and especially in populous southern Wisconsin, that the legislature's study group has heard tentative suggestions for some form of public control of water-borne traffic congestion.

Specific Suggestions
When listening legislators have asked for specific suggestions on means and methods, however, the responses have been inconclusive.

The committee has toured the state and heard hundreds of witnesses.

Testimony thus far suggests general support for the idea of a boat identification system on a state-wide basis, although there are some reservations about a state license requirement that would produce revenue.

The committee heard repeated complaints about lake traffic problems at a hearing at Lake Geneva, near the most popular summer watering spot in southern Wisconsin which draws heavily from Illinois cities.

Smaller Lakes
F. A. Anderson of Lake Geneva reported that a recent count showed that there are 3,000 boats of 35 horsepower regularly using that lake, excluding weekend visitors who bring boats.

Smaller lakes in southern Wisconsin have been similarly burdened and some local governments have tried to meet the problem by imposing deliberately high local boat license fees. The validity of such local government licensing ordinances is now under attack in the courts, in an action brought by the state attorney general's office.

Door County Hunting Area Near Reality

Commission Okays First Purchase of Land Near Brussels

The first state-financed public hunting grounds in Door county will soon be a reality.

With the enthusiastic backing of peninsula sports groups, the conservation commission has approved the first purchases of land in the proposed Gardner swamp public hunting area, about five miles north of Brussels in Door county.

Ultimately the project will embrace nearly 1,200 acres at a probable acquisition cost of about $16,000.

The plan has wide support among sportsmen of the region, according to Lawrence Monfils, a county official of the Wisconsin conservation congress.

Principal Species
The principal species in the area to be managed are waterfowl, muskrats, deer, ruffed grouse and beaver, state game men told the commission.

The bottomland timber in the neighborhood comprises one of the few good wildlife areas remaining in the county, and it has a considerable public importance because of its reasonable proximity to Green Bay, the game division report pointed out.

The department said it has had many complaints and has spent considerable money trying to control beaver in the area which have damaged the private timber holdings.

When all of the land is bought, the state plans to build a small structure to flood from 300 to 400 acres of the swamp.

Opponents of State's Waterfowl Refuge Plan Have 14 Days to Protest

Opponents of the state conservation commission's plan to establish waterfowl refuge areas in five places in Winnebago county have the next two weeks to file protests with the federal corps of engineers at Chicago.

A public notice to Fox Cities governments Thursday said the state would close to refuge areas to navigation between Sept. 15 and Dec. 10.

The refuges would be in Lake Butte des Morts, Lake Winnebago and East and West Poygan and Reighmoor bays on the Fox and Wolf rivers.

The Appleton men will be after Dahl sheep, bear and caribou. They intend to hunt in the Farewell region northwest of Anchorage.

Dead Bear Creates Problem for Thomson

Madison — A 65-pound bear arrived at the home of Gov. Vernon Thomson Thursday as a gift to the chief executive's 11-year-old son Tommy, from a northern Wisconsin admirer.

Mrs. Thomson called the governor and asked what to do with it.

Send it to the Madison zoo, the governor replied.

Another phone call from the governor's mansion brought the information that the animal was dead and had been partially dressed out before being shipped.

It was a hot afternoon and Mrs. Thomson didn't care to have a half-dressed out bear around the house.

The problem was solved by sending it to a tanning plant. Tommy will have a bear rug in his bedroom.

Wranosky Examines Word 'Sportsmanship'

BY CHUCK WRANOSKY
Outagamie County Game Warden

Our fall season is just around the corner. It won't be long and shotguns will be taken out and oiled. The hunting fever is starting. It's time that we who frequent the outdoors start to think of conservation and sportsmanship.

Many people will call themselves sportsmen but, actually, only a few people fit into that category. Sportsmanship is a mighty big word.

True Sportsman
A true sportsman hunts and fishes for the love of the outdoors and not for the amount of game he brings home. He will not violate fish and game laws because he knows that such violations only hurt himself and his hunting future.

Many people think that because they belong to a conservation club such membership makes them a sportsman. To have a good club member you have to take an active part in the club and its activities and not be there only when the pheasants are going to be released.

The true sportsman will not run over a farmer's land as though it were his own. He will ask permission to hunt and he will never abuse that permission. The farmer is the man who gives much of our game a place to live so treat him as the friend he is.

So you think you are a sportsman? Are you the kind that sees your game laws violated and never says anything? You are not a "squealer" for reporting violations to your warden. You are only helping to protect what is yours by law.

Report Violations
If you report violations you will be helping hunters of today and tomorrow.

The word sportsman is a big word and it takes a big man

Cooler Weather Bringing Improved Fishing Back to Regions of State

Cooler weather is bringing better fishing, especially in the north, the state conservation department said today in its weekly fishing report.

Fishing in the Mississippi has also been good, the department said in its summary of reports from conservation wardens.

Trout fishing, which had been slow due to hot weather and low water, is picking up. A number of limit catches were reported from Marinette county.

Bass fishing ranges from fair to excellent around the state.

Fishing pressure is declining while fishing success increases. Both trends are normal for this time of year.

Outagamie county — Warden Chuck Nixson: Fishing on north end of Lake Winnebago fair to good. Walleyes being taken by trolling with night crawlers and artificial baits. Wolf river fishing poor. Lake Poygan fishing fair to good with some perch and pike catches reported.

Green Lake county — Warden Bill Baier: Puckaway lake has been producing fair catches of catfish. Nice catches of perch being taken. Big Green Lake has been best for small mouth bass with worms and herring the best bait. Other fishing slow.

Fond du Lac county — Warden Charles Schlumpf: Fishing on Winnebago good for jumbo perch. Best bait hellegrammes and worms. Walleyes and white bass only fair. Panfishing good on other lakes with best fishing in deep water with small spinners and worms. Fly fishing evenings good with poppers for bluegills and crappies.

Brown county — Warden Robert Green: Fishing has fallen off. No good catches seen, just small perch. Waubesa county — Warden Ben Ostmann: Fishing improved slightly with cooler weather. Some bluegills and perch biting on Chain O'Lakes. Waubesa county — Warden C. W. Lundberg and R. F. Kuhnisch: Panfishing very good on all lakes. Walleyes good on Mingo and Birch lakes. Northern fair on Ripey. Waubesa trout fair on some of the rivers.

Florence county — Warden R. A. Nixson and John Michalek: Bass and crappies taken in fast water. Bass fishing excellent with a little with a few fish being taken on Willow Flowage, Mingo and Squirrel lakes. Some nice catches still biting in Shawano Lake. Good black bass being taken on White Clay lake.

Oneida county — Warden R. G. Olson, L. M. Miller and A. N. Knudsen: Musky action good on Wisconsin river. Squirrel, Upper Koshong and Big Arbor Vite lakes. Some nice catches of bass being taken on Katherine, Madeline, Carroll, Bear and Tomahawk lakes. Walleyes picking up a little with a few fish being taken on Willow Flowage, Mingo and Squirrel lakes. Some nice catches still biting in Shawano Lake. Good black bass being taken on White Clay lake.

Marquette county — Warden Ralph Ruchman: Men Kazzam and Tom Alberson: Trout fishing good with many catches being taken on worms and hoppers. Productive streams include the Little Wisconsin, Thunder and Little South Branch of the river and Little South Branch of the river. A Pike river. Fly fishing stretch producing excellent results in the area of Spring and Fall. Bass fishing excellent on night crawlers and June bug spinners. Trout fishing good with best catches made in very deep water with the over-all fishing is satisfactory. Hellegrammes and night crawlers. Artificial night crawlers being used in all varieties for all varieties with outstanding success.

Milwaukee county — Warden Carl Miersch and Ed Thrall: Water belowwaters for all varieties with outstanding success.

Appleton Man Joins In Pioneer Journey

Doug Evans Among First Anglers To Test Gloomy Depths of Famed Black Canyon by Helicopter

New Pond Will Up Output of Young Pike

100,000 Fingerlings Expected Each Year From Mazomanie

Completion of a new 20-acre walleyed pike rearing pond at Mazomanie in Dane county will increase the output of pike fingerlings for planting in Wisconsin lakes and streams by 100,000 annually starting next year, the state fisheries division has reported.

The additional yield will be the equivalent of up to 10 percent of the state's huge annual output of artificially reared pike for the replenishment of game fishing waters.

The walleye is by all odds the most valuable of the sports fish species of the state, measured in terms of numbers of anglers seeking it, and the total yearly harvest.

Fingerling Yield
Recent yields of fingerlings for planting have ranged between a million and a million and a half a year.

(Several legislators, among others, have recently questioned the adequacy of the production schedule of the state's warm water fish rearing program. Sen. Reuben LaFave of Oconto, chairman of a legislative council committee on conservation, has scheduled a hearing of his group at Woodruff on Aug. 21 for a review of the state fisheries program with emphasis upon the hatchery and stocking effort.)

Plant Capacity
Dr. E. W. Schnberger, head of the state fisheries division, explained that the existing

The man sits easily, comfortably, behind a gleaming mahogany desk.

He offers you a cigarette. And you talk fishing.

Particularly you talk about a dizzying deep gash carved in mountainous southwestern Colorado by the roguish Gunnison river where the man across the desk took part in a spine-tingling excursion to reach some of the most inaccessible fishing water in the world.

Doug Evans, Appleton business executive, was a member of an angling party which made history by being the first to penetrate the gloomy depths of the lower gorge of Colorado's famed Black Canyon by helicopter.

Taste of Tension
Even in the solitude of Evans' office at Scolding Locks corporation, 1520 W. Rogers avenue, you experience the taste of tension which was theirs as they prepared to do what no men had ever done before. But Evans spoke almost casually of the trip into the lower gorge where exploration is regarded as being the most hazardous in the United States.

With Evans were his host, Sterling Smith, Grand Junction, Colo., Pilot Hershey Young, and Dwight plant capacity of the division is likely to produce more young pike in the future because of improved methods.

Hatchery foremen have learned how to clean out the natural and artificial rearing ponds at the end of a season, thus removing predators that otherwise would reduce the production of young game fish, he said.

Owen of the Colorado fish and game department.

Among the major hazards, Evans said, were fickle air currents within the depths of the gorge. "Our air lift had to begin at 5:30 in the morning and be completed by 8:30," he said. Young, who operates a flying service out of Denver, had determined that air flow in the canyon was at its best for flying between those hours.

Evans' interest in the Black Canyon grew out of a 3-day raft trip down the Gunnison with Smith three years ago. The lower gorge, however, is inaccessible by water or land and his desire to test Gunnison's rainbow trout in the lower gorge grew with each passing year.

Owens and Young, meanwhile, had discovered, during a flight through the canyon, a tiny sandbar just large enough to hold a helicopter. After determining that a landing was possible, Evans was contacted and plans for a 3-day stay at the bottom of the canyon were developed.

Taking one passenger at a time, Young and Owens went in first. The others were brought in turn.

Trout Fishing
Trout fishing, Evans said, was almost beyond comparison. He estimated 50 rainbows were taken and released during the first hour of fishing. The party kept only enough fish to eat in camp.

Fishing, the main goal of the party at the start, became almost secondary in importance to the trip itself, Evans said. The wild, unspoiled beauty of virgin wilderness and the exhilarating feeling of doing something no men had ever done made trout catching a by-product of the expedition.

Evans' affection for the Black Canyon and the fish-rich, turbulent Gunnison is, if anything, even more pronounced now that his latest Colorado trip is complete.

Going Back
After two trips into the lower regions of the canyon, his plans now call for a jaunt into the "high country." "We'll go by jeep as far as we can and then we'll pack in with mules the rest of the way. They tell me there are a couple of lakes up there with some real lunkers."

The man across the desk stands up and you grind out your cigarette and rise with him.

In an hour in a quiet office on a sleepy Appleton street you've been on a fishing trip with a man who helped pioneer a new method for gaining access to untouchable angling waters.

It was almost as good as the real thing.

Game Research Activities Reach Giant Proportions

Fish, game and other wildlife resources are being studied as never before.

The research staff of the state conservation administration is constantly expanding as administrators apply scientific methods to finding the answers to questions that in earlier times were merely guessed at or handled by trial and error methods.

A recent compilation of the currently authorized investigations by biologists and others shows 43 separate projects, covering virtually the whole range of management and regulatory problems confronting the commission and related subjects.

From them is flowing a generous volume of printed reports on findings and conclusions, and many other less formally produced papers.

So large and so various has the research program become that the conservation commissioners a year ago set up a departmental coordinating committee, with some representatives of the University of Wisconsin and other agencies, to supervise and guide the many studies. Many of the department inquiries are made in collaboration with the university's technical department. Others are assigned directly to the university, with the department frequently contributing to their costs.

Students in Japan Buy Homework Already Finished

Tokyo — Ready made, completed vacation homework is selling like hot cakes over Tokyo department store counters.

With schools resuming Sept. 1, stores are filled with young customers seeking collections of insect specimens to complete their still unfinished homework.

Every summer teachers assign vacation projects to test pupils' originality and application—the most popular being collecting and gathering specimens of insects, butterflies and the like.

Kids being kids, sometimes the work isn't done in time.

Department stores and shop keepers have obligingly filled the need. They have stocked their counters with a wide assortment of beautifully arranged specimen boxes—"to help the children," said one shopkeeper.

Reasonably priced, they appeal to harassed parents whose children must have something to show the teachers after the summer.

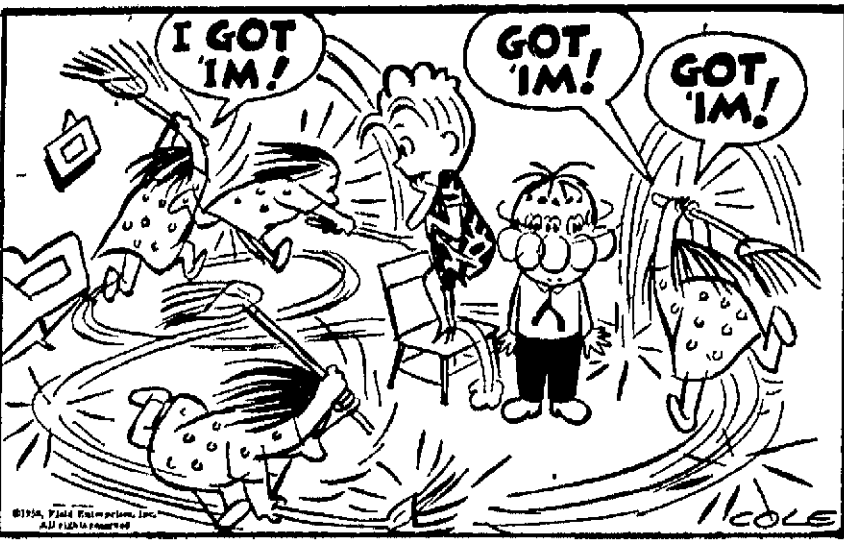

Some betray the source of their children's collections by buying specimens of insects not found in Japan.

Often mispronounced: Pre text. Pronounce pre-text accent on first syllable.

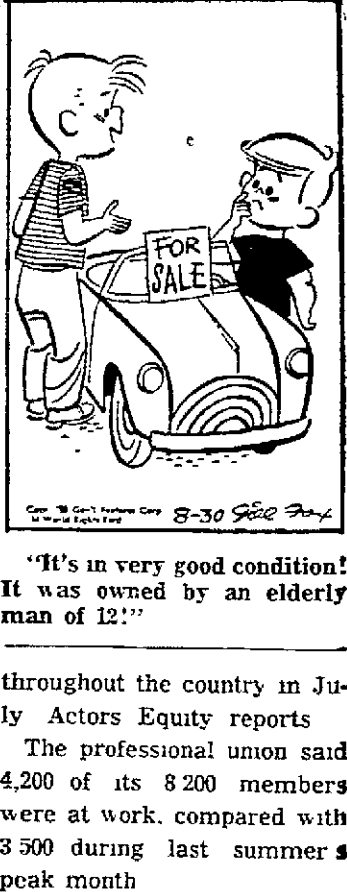

Often misspelled: Evenness, observe the two "n's."

Synonyms: Heroism, bravery, courage, gallantry, valor, prowess, intrepidity.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: compunctious: remorseful, contrite. "The unprincipled boy was not compunctious after being punished at school."

Packard and N. Superior street intersection, the 1700 block of W. Winnebago street, the 1300 block of W. College and along E. Water street where some of the hillside washed away.

Jones park, just south of the downtown business section, looked as if it had just been flooded for an ice rink, the department said.

Strikes Roof
Lightning struck the roof of the home of Donald J. Vandewettering, 1717 N. Charlotte street, about 7:23 Friday night.

It traveled through the walls to knock plaster from a bathroom wall, firemen said. Chilton received the heaviest rain during the storm in the area. A total of 3.40 inches fell in the two storms. During the afternoon storm which broke up the opening day crowds at the Calumet county fair, an inch fell and 2.40 inches fell in 45 minutes during the morning storm, according to A. H. Roll, city weather observer.

Six hours after the storm the sewage tanks were still running from 12 to 14 inches higher than usual.

The General Telephone company of Wisconsin reported extensive damage. Lines two miles west of Chilton were down and several circuits in the city were broken. It will take all today to repair the damage, a spokesman said.

Despite the sudden storm, the Calumet fair program was presented on schedule Friday night and continued this morning. One tent was blown down and some tree limbs on the west end of the fairgrounds were blown down, according to O. W. Moehrke, president of the fair association.

New London Damage
Extensive utility damage was reported in New London in the two storms. L.K. Thomas, utility supervisor, reported four primary power feeder lines down, 18 transformers with blown fuses and 36 secondary lines were down.

Crews were out from 5:45 to 8:30 Friday night and again at 11:30 this morning. Much power is still out in the city.

Arthur Gesse, street superintendent, said his crews were out since 2 o'clock this morning. Three large trees, several billboards and signs and numerous branches were down. Most of the damage was north of Washington street, he said.

Telephone service was interrupted locally when branches pulled service wires off homes. Crews from Appleton were in the city today repairing the damage.

Generator Struck
Lightning struck a small generator at the power substation in Manawa about 1 o'clock this morning. Firemen fought the blaze in dense smoke and driving rain. At points in the city water stood a foot deep in the streets.

The fire was discovered by Paul Sturm who was checking a refrigeration plant at the A. Sturm and Sons plant across the street from the substation.

Amandus Grab, utility manager, estimated the damage at $5,000. A stand-by generator was put in use.

A lightning bolt struck the James P. Johnson farm, southwest of Dale, knocking out several windows and some plaster.

Power was cut off at Clintonville for about 18 minutes this morning while some 1.5 inches of rain fell during the storm.

Rainfall of 1.80 inches during the 24-hour period up to 7 o'clock this morning was reported by Harry Wilson, government lockmaster at Menasha. About a half inch fell early Friday night and the 1.30 inches came during the 2 o'clock storm this morning.

Rural Wires Down
Wisconsin Public Service corporation at Oshkosh reported two outages plus numerous wires down from falling branches. Lightning cut through a wire north of the city of Oshkosh early this morning, cut off 200 customers, including the Winnebago State hospital and the Winnebago County Hospital and Home for the Retired and Sunny View sanatorium.

Service north of the city was disrupted for about 30 minutes until power could be rerouted to that area. The state hospital has an emergency generator which cuts in automatically when the power is disrupted so there is no electrical disruption. The other institutions do not have any emergency units.

A tree which fell through a line along Highway 45 about five miles south of Oshkosh early Friday evening cut off about 50 customers from 5:15 to 10 o'clock at night. All fall wires were cleared up by this morning, Wisconsin Public Service corporation officials indicated.

Rain also cut down attendance at the Winnebago County fair at Oshkosh with a heavy downfall shortly before the show was to begin, coupled with a high wind that blew down several dressing tents, concession tents. The driving rain last night damaged some of the booths while the early morning downpour left a muddy track.

Crews are working to prepare the track for the Tournament of Thrills show scheduled for 2 o'clock this afternoon and 8 o'clock tonight.

If the soil was neither soggy-wet nor crumbly-dry, you now have the plant unpotted, with roots and old soil holding the shape of the original pot. Simple so far, isn't it?

Now take the larger pot, "crock" it with pieces of a broken pot or with a bottle cap (my favorite) or with glass wool or whatever you prefer. Put in enough soil so that the surface of the old soil around the plant will be one-half inch below the rim of the new pot, grasp the plant by its stem and hold it in the new pot and fill in around it with new soil.

Tamp it down firmly as you fill. When the new soil is level with the old, you're done. Soak the plant thoroughly, allow to drain, and resume normal care.

Questions and Answers
How can I start an avocado seed? And could I buy ready-started plants anywhere, in case I'm not successful? I have heard they make nice pot plants.

We get an awful lot of requests for this information but we don't have any prepared material to help you. A book list, checked to indicate which title will give you the information, has been sent to you, together with the names of sources for avocados (Persea americana) plants. If enough of you ask for it, we will have some sheets on this printed up, but be patient after you ask; it takes time to get them.

I've been trying to figure out just where you stand with the florists. You are always so mealy-mouthed when you talk about them. Are you in competition with them, or what?

I love all florists as if they were my own children, which means I'm apt to want to chastise them on occasion but I couldn't live without them. I am not, so far as I know, in competition with anyone, least of all any florist. I might add, to be perfectly honest, that a few florists don't care a great deal about me.

Sometimes, in your answers to questions, you say you don't know the answer. Why do you write that?

Because it's true. We do get questions once in a while which we don't know the answers to, but we try to suggest where the answers might be found. Then, when time permits, we find the answer ourselves, so we'll spend a few good many years in study. We learn something new every day; there is so much to learn, we will never know it all.

Man Hopes to Get Weight Down to Zero

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Writer

Amsterdam, Netherlands

—A—Slim, dark-haired Dr. Harald Von Beckh hopes soon to get his weight down to zero. And then to keep on weighing nothing for two full minutes, a record for human beings.

Zero weight is one unusual condition humans will meet when their space ships literally fall through space, with no sensation of gravity pull.

Von Beckh has made 150 airplane flights in which the plane arched to make him weightless for periods of 10 to 45 seconds. Many pilots have experienced this, but never longer than 45 seconds, he told the International Astronautical federation meeting here.

The dog Laika in Sputnik II had zero weight with no apparent ill effects for the week before she died of suffocation or poison. But that's no proof humans could take it.

Some Feel Giddy
Some humans feel giddy and gay at zero weight; some get confused and disoriented. It "doesn't affect me at all," 40-year-old Von Beckh told newsmen.

The critical question is the long-term human effect of zero weight, hence efforts to extend the experimental time.

In a few weeks or months, Von Beckh hopes to have a plane which can fly a zero gravity course for two minutes. At zero gravity, everything floats, including the fuel in fuel tanks. So the plane has to have devices to keep fuel and oil flowing or else the engine will quit and the plane will crash, "which is not exactly desirable either to the pilot or taxpayers."

Von Beckh, a German-born space medicine expert at Holoman Air Force base in Alamogordo, N. M., plans to be the first volunteer.

Other instructors are Mrs. Ralph Buesing, Appleton, Monday night women's swim; Mrs. Joan Van Dyke, Kaukauna, Wednesday night women's swim; and Robert Cook, new youth program director, boys swim.

James Coley, Appleton, will teach junior and senior life-saving starting Jan. 6 and McGuire will teach the new parent-child sessions starting Oct. 15.

5 Appleton Directors To Attend Planning Meeting of Accountants

Five Appleton directors of the northern Wisconsin chapter of the National Association of Accountants will attend a planning meeting Wednesday at Van Camp's supper club.

They are J. F. Wrase, E. F. Koch, E. H. Weidmann, W. M. Kolbe and R. E. Rickert.

Final plans will be made for the 1958-59 technical sessions. The first session will be Sept. 16 at Shawano.

Stolen Car Questioning Turns Up Another Theft

Appleton police questioning of youths involved in the theft of a car in Appleton Friday has turned up another car theft. A 16-year-old Appleton boy admitted he stole a car last May from 1012 N. Lawe street and abandoned it on Highway 47.

The boy was with several others when two of them were captured as they fled from a stolen car which had developed a flat tire. Menasha police captured the boys after a short chase.

Steals Record

A 15-year-old Menasha boy was reprimanded and turned over to his parents after he was caught stealing a record in Heid Music company, 308 E. College avenue, Friday afternoon. The youth was caught after the record dropped from a pile of packages he was carrying as he left the store.

MacDowell Plans 1958 Drive for New Members

Appleton MacDowell Male chorus, which begins rehearsals for its 25th season Sept. 8, is conducting a membership drive beginning today.

During "Join MacDowell Week," cards will be posted in Fox Cities store windows and a display will be featured in the window of the First National bank in Appleton.

The display contains chorus pictures from early years, sample programs, photographs of guest artists and original chorus officers. Four men are charter members of the organization. They are Elmer Rehbein and Melvin O. Knoke, basses, Louis Waltman, tenor, and Karel Richmond, second tenor.

Rehearsals are held at 7:30 each Monday evening in the fellowship hall at First English Lutheran church. The chorus traditionally presents a concert in Appleton, in one nearby community and participates in state and midwest sings in the spring.

Edwin F. Zordel is chorus conductor. Mrs. Leone Ferron is accompanist.

Milwaukee Road Seeks To Replace Flagman With Electric Signals

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad company is seeking permission to replace its S. Oneida street flagman with automatic signals.

City councilmen have approved the request. The state public service commission announced today there will be no public hearing.

The commission, however, will investigate the books of the railroad before making a decision.

Fort Atkinson Girl Dies in Auto Smashup

Fort Atkinson — The death of a young woman from Fort Atkinson — the state's first reported auto fatality of the long Labor day weekend — raised Wisconsin's 1958 toll to 503 early today compared with 556 a year ago.

Ten persons lost their lives in Labor day weekend accidents last year in Wisconsin.

Brenda McIntosh, 18, Fort Atkinson, was killed early today when the car in which she was riding left a town road a mile southeast of Fort Atkinson and wrapped itself around a tree.

Showers Are Forecast Tonight for upper New York state, northern New England, the western lakes region, the upper Mississippi valley, western Texas and along the coasts of Washington and Oregon. It will be cooler in the upper Mississippi valley and continue warm in the east.

Law Officers Plea

"Take it easy and help us keep our city and county record of death-free holidays intact," ask Outagamie County Police Capt. Ronald Decker and Appleton Police Chief Walter Hendricks.

Both men asked drivers to not only look after their own safety but watch what the other driver is doing, too.

Few drivers realize, Decker said, that an important part of their vision goes to pieces at 60 miles an hour. Our peripheral vision grows more and more fuzzy as speeds increase. At slow speeds, the law officer said, a driver should be able to command a clear visual sweep of at least 140 degrees with both eyes.

As we step on the gas this seeing area narrows considerably until, at 60, we are driving in a kind of self-created tunnel. We miss details at the sides of the road and see clearly only what is straight ahead, he noted.

Night Tips

Drivers who are driving at night over the Labor Day weekend might find these tips handy, Decker added:

The accident rate at night is four times greater than the daytime rate, although traffic is only one-half as heavy.

Tinted sunglasses should not be worn for night driving. They rob your eyes of needed light.

If you are going to drive at night, protect your eyes from seashore or other glare during the day. Otherwise, you may be temporarily "night blind."

Gluing your eyes on the white road line or the tail lights ahead gets to be hypnotic. It dulls your senses and causes accidents.

If you drive much after dark, consult a vision specialist about glasses specially prescribed for night driving. And while you're at it, better get a vision check-up for daylight driving, too.

Law Officers Plea

"Take it easy and help us keep our city and county record of death-free holidays intact," ask Outagamie County Police Capt. Ronald Decker and Appleton Police Chief Walter Hendricks.

Both men asked drivers to not only look after their own safety but watch what the other driver is doing, too.

Few drivers realize, Decker said, that an important part of their vision goes to pieces at 60 miles an hour. Our peripheral vision grows more and more fuzzy as speeds increase. At slow speeds, the law officer said, a driver should be able to command a clear visual sweep of at least 140 degrees with both eyes.

"You have to learn to walk..."

they say, "before you can run." Or put another way, "First things first!" Yet how often people tell us they want a policy on a new child or on the child's mother before the first need has been adequately met. This prime need is for ample coverage on the father's life. Without him family income can stop, family living standards tumble. And believe us, the few thousand dollars of life insurance he may now own would fall far short of "ample coverage" at today's prices. We would be pleased to help you determine your realistic needs in keeping with current living costs. No obligation of course.

Your Problems

Gullible Woman Races With Younger Rival for Man's Favor

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm a widow 47 years of age. Two years ago I met an attractive bachelor. He took me out a few times then told me restaurant food made him sick. Before I knew it, he was at my home five nights a week for dinner.

Six months later, he broke her hip. He asked me to help him out and I agreed to take his mother into my home. She's diabetic, hard-of-hearing and cranky. When I want to go out in the afternoon I must pay someone to come in as she can't be left alone. My friend has all his meals with me and I do his laundry. The other evening I told him frankly I was tired of this arrangement and asked when we were going to be married. He informed me that he's interested in a younger woman and now it's "between the two of us."

I love him very much and thought surely he intended to marry me. What shall I do now?—MONTEREY

This man won't marry you. Why should he? He's unloaded his sick mother, gets his laundry done, sticks his feet under a free table whenever he feels like it, and now he's got you running in a contest. If you're smart you'll give him his ailing mother as a farewell gift and tell him to look in the yellow pages for a laundry service. Suggest also, that he feed his face elsewhere and let the other contestant worry about his digestive system.

DEAR ANN: I'm writing to ask if I should apologize to my neighbor. This woman and her husband work all day and leave their dog locked up in the house. The dog barked and howled until it drove me out of my mind. I put up with it for six months and finally asked the advice of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. They suggested that I speak to the people.

Well, I did. The dog has been put in another room so I don't hear the worst of the barking. The poor lady on the other side gets it. These neighbors now turn their heads when they see us and we are not on good terms. My husband blames me for using poor judgment. He claims I should have put up with the barking and not complained. He says nothing is so important as friendly neighbors. Shall I apologize?—IN DEEP

You owe them no apology.

These people are unreasonable. Of course it's nice to have friendly neighbors, but not if you have to stand on your head and spit nickels to please them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a girl 13. My sister who is 16 thinks she is some sort of a queen or something. She says dish water hurts her hands and she gets away with it. I have to empty the garbage because she's afraid she'll break her fingernails. Whenever I'm on the phone and she wants to use it she yells "Get off, you've gabbed long enough." We share a bedroom and my side is always neat and hers is a mess. My parents think she is perfect. How long do you think this will go on?—LITTLE SISTER

Dear Little Sister: Probably until Her Royal Highness gets married. It's your mother's place to issue the edicts around the palace. If you think she's being unfair, say so in quiet, lady-like tones.

It won't break the princess' fingernails to be civil about the phone. Mother should set a time limit for you both. Maybe one day there'll be a "Little Sister's Protective Association." Until then, grin and bear it. That's the way the mop flops.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

This Is the Story of how the faith of a merchant went around the world. At 16 he knelt in a drapery shop and gave his heart to God. It was mid-19th Century England, when men worked 17 hours a day and salesmen were unscrupulous. Yet, this former farm boy wrote, "I would be righteous and holy in business, doing it as for Christ." He sought Christian companionship and prayed after work with another employee. They were joined by others. Soon the youngest apprentice and the boss were interested.

The idea spread to other businesses, countries and continents, refreshing spirit, minds and bodies. Simultaneously, the merchant became the best salesman in London, a husband, father, head of his business, a wealthy man and a knight: Sir George Williams, founder of the Y.M.C.A. (AP Newsfeatures)

City Refuses To Stop Work On N. Erb St.

Need Sewer, Water North of Lindbergh To Prevent Deadends

The street and sanitation committee has refused to change an order for sewer and water on N. Erb street from W. Lindbergh street to W. Pershing street.

Mrs. Elsie Koehnke, who with her daughter, Mrs. Carol Duchow, owns all of the abutting property, asked that the work be held off.

She said opening of W. Lindbergh and W. Pershing from N. Division street to N. Richmond street, part of the same order, would cost her about $13,000 plus sewer and water lateral charges and that was enough for one year.

Officials of St. Pius X congregation and Mrs. Koehnke's sister - in - law, Mrs. Clara Koehnke, who owns about the same amount of property north of W. Pershing, requested the opening.

No Deadends
Committeemen explained that water mains would dead-end at the N. Richmond ends of the two streets if the N. Erb order was cancelled. This is a condition which the water commission will not permit.

And, they said, since the sanitary sewer will have to be placed at a lower depth than the water mains, the sewer will have to be constructed as part of the project.

F. C. Sign Studio, 604 E. Frances street, was given permission to place four waste baskets on the northside. The company must keep them on private property. City rubbish crews will empty them. The baskets will carry advertising.

The committee will ask the council Wednesday night for permission to inspect Green Bay street department facilities. The trip is expected to show what the city should have when a new street department building is constructed.

Wisconsin Telephone company will not be permitted to open E. College avenue at N. Park avenue to lay a 4-inch conduit, the committee ruled. The company will have to auger under the street, the same as contractors for the Lawrence college music-drama center now under construction.

Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski was asked to arrange a meeting at 7:30 Tuesday night between the committee and owners of property near the proposed sewage lift station at the northwest corner. The committee seeks their reactions to platting their lands together.

A remonstrance against paving N. Oneida street from Lindbergh street to Highway 41 signed by eight property owners was received and will be introduced Wednesday night when the project undergoes a public hearing before the council.

One-block sections of E. Henry street and E. Esther street in the Schaefer plat were recommended to be vacated, providing owners furnish an easement for a 10-foot-wide pedestrian walkway. Owners said corner lots are too hard to sell. A storm sewer lies under the 10-foot section the city seeks.

Installation of gas mains by Wisconsin Michigan Power company were approved for W. Parkway boulevard from N. Bennett street west 236 feet, S. Christine street from E. Lucille street to E. Candee street and for W. Pine street from S. Bartell drive west 145 feet.

A storm sewer was ordered for E. Kay street from N. Graceland avenue to N. Racine street. The project will be added to existing contracts.

Widening of the E. North street and N. Drew street intersection was held until the next meeting.

The street department was ordered to eliminate the flood condition at N. Union street and E. Glendale avenue.

Postmaster Francis Sumnitch was given permission to fasten mail boxes on concrete slabs, mostly on Wisconsin and College avenues.

Parking Lots
Grading, graveling, turnover and double sealcoat were ordered for the east-west alley between S. Summit and S. Spruce streets, south of W. Lawrence street, next year.

An exchange of deeds with Mr. and Mrs. Otto P. Sternagel was ordered to straighten out the street right-of-way for E. Telulah avenue.

The street department was ordered to sod the boulevards around the Soldiers Square and E. Lawrence street parking lots. The parking meter department will cut the grass and maintain them.

Advertisements for bids on a pickup truck were ordered. Advertisements for rock salt and calcium chloride, used in snow and ice on streets, was held up while committeemen investigate whether there is something less harmful to streets on the market.

It was decided not to prepare for the former Marston property east of the vocational school for a parking lot. Carl Bertram, school director, it was said, believes construction of a new building will begin shortly.

Clerk Finds Money for Extra Paving Projects

Might Uncover $45,000 More by Careful Combing

A total of $29,400 has been found in surplus to make up the $29,160 overspending of the paving account, the council's finance committee has been told.

City Clerk Elden J. Broehm also reported as much as $45,000 more might be found if other budgeted accounts are combed carefully.

The committee recommended to transfer the $29,400 to the paving account. The council will vote on the recommendation Wednesday night.

An estimated $26,000 needed to carry the relief department the rest of the year will be transferred from the other accounts as it is needed, the committee decided.

Contracts Unsigned
Inspection of the paving account, Broehm reported, shows $77,850 has been spent on the city's share of asphalt costs, $9,500 to pay for sidewalk replacement in the N. Richmond street reconstruction project and $1,300 for the city's share of strictly state costs in the N. Richmond work.

Contracts totaling $36,688.66 for concrete surfacing or widening of N. Oneida street, N. Lawe street and the alley south of W. College avenue west of S. Superior street are unsigned, Broehm said, because the council hasn't provided the money for the work.

Required funds total $15,510, Broehm reported, $12,400 for the N. Oneida work, $1,770 for N. Lawe and $1,340 for the alleys. This represents the expected city share of costs.

The combination of the unsigned contracts and the previously completed work equals $104,160, the city's share of all paving work. Deducting the $75,000 appropriated from taxes, leaves $29,160 to be covered.

The Transfers
The money, Broehm reported, could be transferred in this way:

Eight thousand dollars from the College-to-Candee high bridge bond issue to pay back the general fund for money sent the state highway commission in 1956 for bridge planning.

One thousand seven hundred dollars in election workers salaries, Monday had to be budgeted for four elections this year, but only three developed.

Five hundred dollars from election supplies. Same reason.

Two thousand dollars from ordinance printing provisions. The account was set up with $2,400 and there has not been a revised ordinance submitted.

Eight thousand dollars from police salaries. This is money actually paid to parking metermen. The report evoked talk of discontinuing policemen as parking meter specialists.

Two thousand dollars from the ambulance service account. The amount of subsidy to the city's two ambulance services was halved from $4,000 after the budget was adopted.

Fire Station Site
Three thousand, two hundred dollars from licenses and fines which are earmarked for the police pension fund. This represents surplus, Broehm said.

One thousand dollars from the opening of new streets and claims account. The money is appropriated every year, but hasn't been used in the last three years. It becomes cash surplus in the general fund each year it is unused.

Two thousand dollars from the fire station site account, Broehm said he has been informed it is unlikely the public safety committee will buy a site for a northside neighborhood station this year.

Six hundred dollars from the weed cutting account.

Housing Authority
In addition, Broehm said, city officials are working on obtaining about $10,000 which the defunct housing authority still controls. Atty. Harry Hoeffel was hired by the housing authority to clear it after the last of the veterans housing units were sold last year.

Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell said it is likely more money could be found by investigating the new equipment accounts of the various departments. Departments which have not purchased new equipment at this late date can get along without it until next year, he said.

It was pointed out that what is taken from other budgets now will shorten the amount of cash surplus with which the council can work in setting next year's tax rate.

Knowles Hits Proxmire Bill On Paper Mill

Lt. Gov. Warren P. Knowles Friday charged Sen. William Proxmire with trying to socialize the paper industry.

Knowles attacked Proxmire on the basis of an article which appeared in the Post-Crescent Tuesday. Knowles is running for his third term and attended a fish fry at the American Legion club and toured College avenue Friday night.

Proxmire's paper industry venture was a bill to set aside $5 million through the small business administration to start a pilot newsprint plant utilizing hardwoods. Proxmire said the federal government would have to underwrite the plant or a new process developed at U. S. Forest Products laboratory at Madison would be wasted.

Kimberly - Clark corporation has been operating a mill utilizing the process for hardwoods in the manufacture of newsprint on the world's largest paper machine for nine years, Knowles said, quoting the Post-Crescent article.

"I'm for the free enterprise system, and Proxmire's proposal in the senate thus far shows that he apparently is not," Knowles declared.

Lakeview to Open $210,000 Addition

New Wing Second to be Added to Town of Neenah School Since 1937

Neenah — When the upwards of 220 school children report for classes at Lakeview school Tuesday, it will be to a much changed building. Not only are there six extra classrooms and a gym but the other rooms in the town of Neenah school have undergone considerable change.

Open house and dedication of the new $210,000 addition is being combined with a centennial observance and will be from 6 o'clock to 9:30 Tuesday night with a program at 8 o'clock.

The new addition is the second to be added to the original brick building erected in 1937. The first school house, built around 1860, is now used as a grain shed on the DeKeyser farm which adjoins the south side of the school property.

District residents replaced this building with a new school in 1884 and that building served until 1937, when it was replaced by a brick structure. This second school is still seeing service as a dwelling on property owned by Earl Hughes and used by one of his farm employees.

1931 Addition

The two rooms and basement of the original brick structure were outgrown by 1950 and the district that year bought another 3.6 acres of land and voted to build an addition containing three classrooms, a library, a teacher's room and basement. The basement room served as a cafeteria during the noon, a gymnasium in the morning and afternoon and the site of town meetings and elections.

Development of the area south of Neenah and along the lake shore into a residential community and the annexing of the former Dixie and Cowling school districts soon brought about the need for more room which led to the present addition.

The six new classrooms were added to the north of the school and a full-sized gym was added to the middle at the rear. The gym was a tile floor marked off for basketball and shuffleboard, pull-out bleachers on the west side and three rows of fluorescent lighting along the arched ceiling. Spot lights illuminate the bleacher area.

The classrooms are of the self-contained type with a sink and bubbler as part of the corner cupboard. In addition there is a closet-type cupboard in each room recessed into the wall, closed to the pupils by sliding doors.

Two large shower rooms are on the south end of the gymnasium and recessed storage areas with sliding doors are along parts of the walls.

The main entrance at the south end of the new addition provides direct entrance to the gymnasium and to the classrooms. It is located where the new addition joins the 1931 wing. Off the entrance is the principal's office.

Neenah — Three 15-year-old boys in a stolen car were stopped by a squad car ramming into them after a bullet-studded chase Friday night.

Neenah and Menasha policemen chased the 1956 Oldsmobile, stolen in Appleton, through Menasha and Neenah streets and outside Neenah. Police Hunt For Menasha Boy, 2 Girls

Three Auto Thefts, Breakin Reported Over Two Days

Menasha — Fond du Lac, Appleton and Menasha police are looking for a Menasha youth and two Appleton girls, all minors, for questioning regarding two auto thefts and a breakin committed Thursday night and early Friday morning.

Police said the boy went to Appleton Thursday night with three companions, stole a car belonging to Earl A. Blink, Jr., 1021 N. Drew street, picked up the two Appleton girls, and returned to Menasha. The youth being sought, who was driving the stolen car, struck a barricade on Main street about half a block from the police station and damaged five lanterns, the barricade and a plank.

The car was found abandoned about two blocks away on Tayco street, but only one of the boys was found.

The driver, the two girls, and another youth, then broke into Prosser's Beer Depot, 126 Water street, where they stole a case of wine. The other youth Friday showed police a place west of Neenah where the quartet had drunk the wine.

After abandoning the first car they stole another from the home of Art Camfield, 300 Abbey avenue, which was used in the breakin. This car was found Friday night in Fond du Lac. Fond du Lac police reported it had been abandoned in damaged condition and that a station wagon had been stolen in its place.

The driver now being sought is on probation. He is known to have said he was going to drive to California. Charges against the other youths are being held in abeyance until the first boy and the girls are found.

High Winds and a Heavy Rainfall early this morning caused damage around the Twin Cities. A large tree fell into the house at 421 Third street, Menasha, occupied by Richard Remmel. About 1.30 inches of rain fell in the 2 o'clock storm this morning with another half inch of rain recorded for Friday night's storm.

$200 for Building Site of Early Lakeview School Changed Many Times Century Ago

Neenah — Seventeen men met at the home of George H. Mansur 102 years ago next month to consider building a school house for their children. Out of this meeting came the forerunner of the present Lakeview school district.

The group voted to locate the school on some property owned by a Mr. Pope but the early records did not indicate whether it was on the property of Martin Pope, E. S. Pope or Buel Pope since all three were at the meeting.

The district was to raise $200 in taxes to build an 18 by 24 foot frame school and furnish it with a stove and pipe. Two weeks later the men met at the corn house on the Pope property and decided to change the site to the Mansur farm "at or as near the south bar on the lake road as possible" with the land to be a quarter acre in size.

A year later district residents decided not to raise the taxes or to build the school that year and an 1858 report showed the district still had no school although it had 27 children attending school out of the 43 children from four to 20 years of age in the district.

Teaching those children were Mrs. Eaton who got $8 a month for the three months she taught and Miss Bidwell who was paid $7 a month for her three months of teaching. The 1858 clerk's report lists expenditures for the previous school year of $62.97 and a tax levy of $6.38.

Teacher salaries went up the next year and the 1859 report by the clerk lists a salary of $52 paid to Miss Marion H. Cole for four months of teaching plus $6 to George Mansur for boarding the teacher during the winter months.

The district must have built its school in the next few years because the 1862 annual meeting lists a vote to move the school house to the E. S. Pope farm. Four months of school in the winter and four months in the summer were approved at the 1865 meeting and two years later the clerk reported a census of "41 mails and 1 feemails" in the district.

On the first board were Tilley Walker as director, Mansur as treasurer and Michael A. Seymour as clerk. Mansur was still treasurer in 1868 when the minutes show that C. G. Smith was clerk and Philip Blyholder was elected director in place of A. Partridge who had left the district.

The Civil war probably brought inflation to the school because in 1870 the district voted to pay James Pheland $30 a month for five months of teaching plus $90 to teach 12 weeks more. School was lengthened to nine months of school if the building was not fixed and eight months if they had to fix the building.

Instead of fixing the old building the district decided to erect a new one that year and in August they voted 13 to 8 to raise $500 for the new school. C. Walker agreed to furnish the money for the new school and was to get the old building for interest until the taxes were collected. That building served until 1957 when it was replaced by the brick structure which is now the south end of the present school.

It was decided in 1894 to "hyre" a lady teacher but not one under 20 years of age. At the 1904 annual meeting

Dolls Worth $80 Stolen In Menasha

Menasha — Police disclosed this morning that someone had broken into the Luane Kay Products company, 101 Manitowoc street, sometime Thursday night or Friday morning and had stolen about 30 plush bear dolls, valued at about $80.

Admittance was gained by climbing up on an attached shed and breaking a 13 by 15 inch window on the second floor. Neighbors reported hearing nothing suspicious.

The theft was reported at 7:42 Friday morning by Frank Fraust, manager. Fraust said he had left the plant about 12 hours earlier.

A woman in the neighborhood, walking her dog at about 11 o'clock Thursday night, told police she saw what she believed was a night light in the building. Fraust said there was no night light.

Town Board Studies Lighting Highway

Neenah — Because of the many requests for street lights at various intersections on Highway 41, the town of Neenah board will study street lighting on the highway along with the entire township and will present the matter to the residents at the next annual town meeting. Town Clerk Richard Roubush reported today.

Bringing the matter up at the annual meeting will give all of the property owners a chance to be heard.

ing $150 for the ensuing year, while this year's school budget calls for spending $197,000 of which $87,000 will come from taxes.

Whether to furnish free textbooks to the pupils was a matter of debate on several occasions. In 1931 it was decided to furnish them but at both the 1940 and 1941 annual meetings a motion to furnish free textbooks passed by only one vote each time.

Other minutes tell of the election of Mrs. Anna Reinhardt, new Mrs. Frank Reidhauser, as the first woman on the school board in 1934. The board was expanded from three to five members in 1953 and bus transportation for all pupils was ordered by the district residents in 1952.

Fifty Years Ago Lakeview School Students gathered with their teacher, Miss Nell Hubbard, in front of the school to pose for their picture. The building was used from 1884 to 1937 when it was replaced by the brick structure which is now the south end of the present school. A classroom of the new $210,000 addition is shown below.

Three Districts Make Up Present Lakeview School

Neenah — Three former districts make up what is now the Lakeview joint school district, containing a large portion of the area between Highway 41 and Lake Winnebago in the towns of Neenah and Vinland.

Dixie school district was annexed to Lakeview in 1949 when its site was needed for the construction of the newly relocated Highway 41 south of Neenah. Its school house was purchased by Willard Schindler and moved to his farm for use as a dwelling.

Cowling school was annexed officially in July of 1956 after action taken by the Neenah and Vinland town board the previous fall. History of this district dates back to 1849 when the Cowling family secured the land from the government and school was held in an old log building.

A frame building was erected for the Cowling district in about 1867 when the school census showed 67 children between the ages of four and 20 with 57 of those attending school. School usually ran in those early days for three months in the summer starting May 1 and four months in the winter starting Nov. 1.

Known at first as District No. 8 school it took on the name of McKinley school in 1919 and of Cowling school, which ran second to McKinley in the previous name change, in 1935. Its present building, used as a kindergarten for the last two years but now sold, was built in 1926.

Four generations of Cowlings, totaling 40 pupils, attended the school. Dixie school was built in 1867 on land given by John Baird. Pupils previously attended school in a granary on the old Ed Muttart farm. The school building had to be moved later to make way for the Wisconsin Central, now the Soo Line, railroad.

Being situated near the railroad track the school house frequently was used as a lodging place at night and weekends by transients seeking a supply of wood and kindling to keep themselves warm.

fice and the school board office.

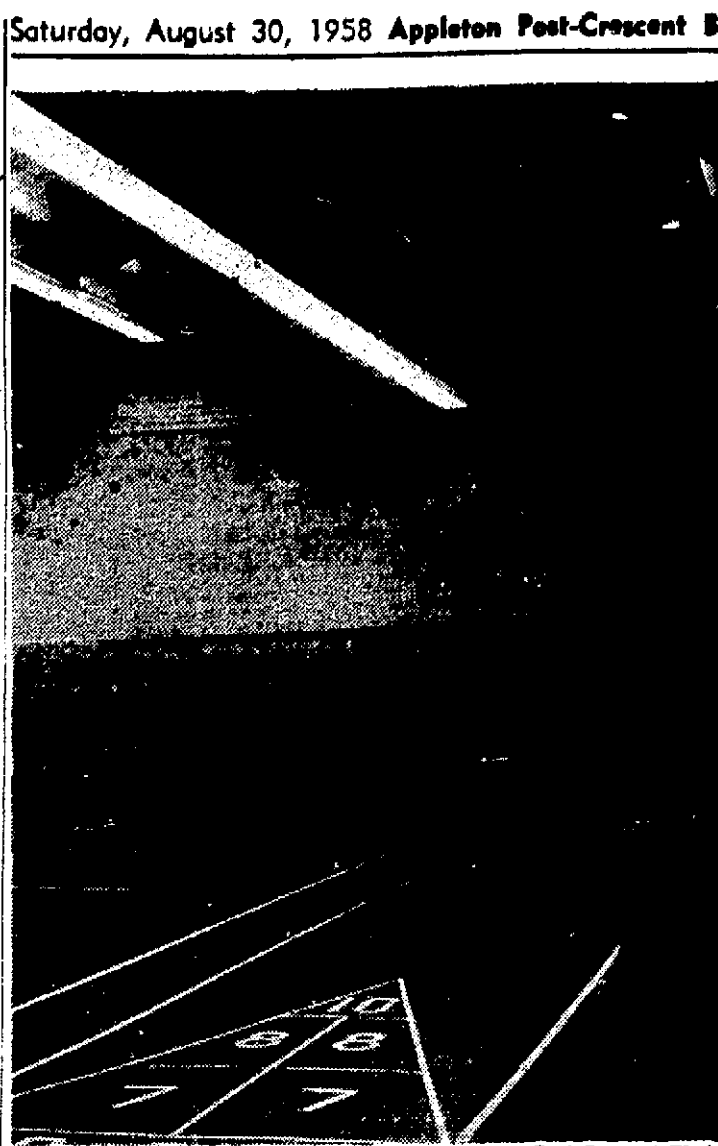

The basement room used as cafeteria and town meeting room was brightened up with a green paint and a seal coat on the floor. The kitchen also was repainted and two basement rooms used for the seventh and eighth grades before were made into one large room which will be used for music instruction and audiovisual purposes, and for group meetings such as by the PTA and the town board.

The old sixth grade room will be used as a supply room while the old fourth grade will be used as a science room for the seventh and eighth grade classes. The former fifth grade room will be used for Girl Scout meetings and by other groups.

Original costs of the 1937 brick structure was $21,825. The 1951 addition cost $79,800.

Siding replaced bricks on the building in 1916 when other alterations were made and an additional acre was purchased for playground purposes.

When the new highway was built, its path led through the school building so the district discontinued operations and joined the Lakeview district, sending its pupils first as tuition students until the annexation became effective.

Macs Face Chuters in First Title Playoff Set Since '53

Gene Gries To Hurl for Menasha '9'

Menasha — The Menasha Macs will engage in their first playoff series since 1953 when they launch the 1958 Fox River Valley postseason set here Sunday afternoon against Little Chute - Kimberly. Game time will be 2 o'clock.

The Macs have won three championships since that 1953 campaign but in each instance they won both rounds to eliminate the need for the postseason affair. Those titles came in 1954, 1955 and 1957.

In 1953, the Macs turned

Konetzke Hits .352 for High On Mac Squad

Massey, Eggert Top .300; Drury Leads Pitchers

Menasha — Jack Konetzke, Mac first baseman, tops the Menasha hitters with a .352 mark going into Sunday's first playoff game against Little Chute - Kimberly.

Konetzke, who missed last Sunday's game against Reedsville because of an injury received in the game against the Old Timers the previous night, has 31 hits in 87 trips to the plate.

Runners belong to shortstop Clem Massey with a .324 mark on 35 hits in 108 trips. Centerfielder - third baseman Darold Eggert is batting at a .310 clip on 31 hits in an even 100 attempts at the plate.

Other marks among the regulars include Manager Edward "Butch" Konetzke .308, Dick Frank .265, "Bud" Koehnke .262, Ken Konetzke .258, Mort Drury .226, John Chapleau .176, Don Gosz .136 and Gene Gries .103.

Len Heinbigner with 12 hits in 28 tries has a .429 average but he has seen action in only seven games.

Pitching marks include Drury 7-2, Vic Stenson 3-0, Gries 5-4, Konetzke 1-1, Jack Dibelius 1-1 and Koehnke and John Phillips 0-1.

back Greenleaf in two of three games, winning the first and third tilts.

Little Chute - Kimberly team members were last involved in a playoff in 1956 when they won over Kaukauna for the championship.

Going into Sunday's fray, the Macs have an overall 19-10 record. They get a chance to pick up No. 20 today at De Pere in their annual test against the state reformatory.

After losing to the Macs and Oshkosh in the first round, the Little Chute - Kimberly entry came up with a strong second half. They won nine straight in league play while at the same time posted wins in the Menasha semi-tournament, added a victory at Milwaukee in the state tournament, picked up a couple of exhibition wins and only lost to the Class B Fox Cities Foxes by two runs.

8 Straight Wins
The Macs did better during the first half of their schedule when they won the title with eight straight victories after dropping the opener to Manitowish.

In second half play, the Macs have a 5-3 slate. A postponed game against Valley Fair will not be played. Losses were to Little Chute-Kimberly (a 19-2 bombing), Freedom (13-7) and Manitowish (6-4).

Manager Edward "Butch" Konetzke has nominated lefty Gene Gries to hurl for the Menashans. It will be his first appearance against the hard hitting L-C-Kimberly crew.

Gries, right now, is the No. 1 pitcher on the Mac staff. He came up with outstanding efforts in his last three starts. He dealt Oshkosh its first loss on a two-hitter, came back a couple of days late to trim Kaukauna 9-4 and last Sunday tamed the Reedsville bats in a 3-1 win.

Relief Hurlers
It marked the first time since Reedsville entered the circuit three years ago that a Mac pitcher has held the club under five runs.

If Gries should falter, "Bud" Koehnke and Mort Drury are expected to be on hand for relief duty. The rest of the lineup is expected to include Don Gosz, behind the plate, Koehnke or Darold Eggert at third base; Clem Massey, shortstop; Ken Konetzke, second base; Jack Konetzke, first base, with the outfielders chosen from Eggert, Len Heinbigner, Dick Frank, "Butch" Konetzke, Tom Konetzke and John Chapleau.

Little Chute - Kimberly has won two of the three encounters against the Macs. The Menashans took the first 11-2 as Drury won over Bob Schmidt. Little Chute won the second 9-3 in the finals of the district tournament with Al Harko getting the win and John Phillips taking the loss and in the 19-2 affair Schmidt was the winner and Drury, the loser.

Annual Legion League Dinner Set at Oshkosh

Formerly the dinner was held in conjunction with the league all-star game. Green Bay and Fond du Lac tied for the first round title and didn't play off the deadlock until recently so the star game was not held.

Although the game wasn't played, emblems will be presented to the two boys on each team, who were picked by their coaches for the squad. Menashans selected by Coach Bill Ciske were outfielder Bill Bauer and catcher Dave Robinson.

O'Brien, McDonald Play for Golf Crown

Final Round in 7th Twin City Amateur Tournament Carded at Bridgewood Links

Neenah — The championship of the seventh annual Neenah-Menasha Amateur Golf tournament, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be at stake when Jim McDonald and Rich O'Brien square off Sunday morning at the Bridgewood course.

Tee off time for the first 18 holes of the 36-hole championship match is 9 o'clock.

The match is a repeat of last year's final. At that time, McDonald won the championship from Sunday's foe in the 36-hole match which wasn't decided until the final hole was completed.

O'Brien led 1 up at the end of the first 18 but McDonald caught him on the twentieth and the lead changed hands after that.

Third Champion
McDonald reached the finals this year by defeating Ray Holewinski and Ralph Conner while O'Brien won over Harold Kloss and Ralph Sell.

McDonald became the third champion in the first six years of the meet. Herb Stinski won the first tourney in 1952 by besting Bob Smith and 9 in the finals and Charlie Steingraber copped the next four.

In 1953, Steingraber defeated Stinski 5 and 4. The next year he bested Bill Daniel 3 and 2 and in 1955 he again won over Stinski 2 and 1. The former Northwestern university captain turned back Tom Dupont 3 and 2 for the title in 1956. He didn't enter the last two years.

Other Fights
In addition to the championship flight, finals will be played in three other brackets Sunday morning.

Bob Miller plays Bill Dowling, Jr. in the last match in the B flight. In the A flight, Jules Weisgerber meets the winner of a match between Gene Frahm and Bob Geiger while Gerry Berendson plays the winner of the Jim Sund-Lynn Wood meeting for the title in the C flight.

LC-K Favored Over Macs in FRVL Playoff

Best-of-3 Series Begins Sunday In Menasha

Despite the fact that they have won four titles in the last five years, Menasha's Macs will go into the Fox River Valley Baseball League's grand championship playoff as underdogs.

First-half champion Menasha plays host to second-round titlist Little Chute-Kimberly at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the opening game of the best-of-3 playoff.

The LC-K team has played far better baseball in the last two months than have the Macs. LC-K, with a 9-0 record for the second round, wallowed for the Macs, 19-2, in their latest meeting. Menasha's second round league mark was 5-3.

2 Other Meetings

The Macs dominated first-half activity with an 8-1 record. LC-K tied for the runner-up spot with Manitowoc at 7-2.

The teams met two other times besides the 19-2 debacle. In their first league encounter, the Macs socked the Papermakers, 11-2, with Mort Drury hurling a 7-hitter.

When they met in the finals of the district semi-pro tourney, LC-K racked up a 9-3 win, with Al Harke spearheading the decision.

Harke or Bob Schmidt — who stopped the Macs with five hits in his only start against them this year — will open on the mound for the hypnated entry.

Gene Gries, a young southpaw with a number of well-pitched games under his belt this season, is expected to open for the Macs. Gries beat Reedsville, 3-1, in his most recent start.

The only time in the last five years that the Macs haven't reigned in the FRVL was in 1956 when Little Chute prevailed.

This is the first year Little Chute and Kimberly have fielded a combined team in the circuit.

Milwaukee — (P) — Among the 35,642 persons at Friday night's Pirates-Braves game were two gents named Johnny Neum and Bill Skiff.

For the uninitiated, Messrs. Neum and Skiff are New York Yankee scouts. They were assigned to follow the Braves for the next few weeks to gather data for Casey Stengel and Company in the likely event of another Yankees-Braves World Series.

Chided about apparent shortcomings in the "book" they compiled last year, Skiff retorted: "The series went to seven games, didn't it? 'We couldn't have been too far wrong.'"

Appleton Bowlers to Launch 1958-9 Season Next Week

48 Leagues Set To Compete On 3 Alleys

BY MIKE DREW Post-Crescent Staff Writer

While bowlers have been gardening, golfing, grilling and generally enjoying the last days of summer, bowling league secretaries and alley proprietors have been busy at work.

Thanks to them the 1958-9 kegling season bursts upon the Appleton sports scene next week with a healthy complement of 48 leagues ready for action at three local emporiums.

The first league activity comes Tuesday when the 8-team Appleton Coated Paper loop starts operations at Hahn's. Initial action at the Elks alleys comes Wednesday when the Merchants circuit begins leveling lumber.

Prices Hold Steady
The Appleton Club association won't see its first league kegling until a week from Wednesday. On that night the South Side Women's circuit gets going.

Hahn's is the largest of the three establishments, with 16 lanes, the Elks club has 10 alleys and the ACA has five, with open bowling on one of them at all times.

After a rise in prices from 35 to 40 cents a line at Hahn's and the Elks club last season, bowling costs will hold steady here. The ACA prices remain 35 cents per line.

The 48 leagues, a tentative figure, represents an increase of one from last season's total. The annual alley refinishing, renovation and general clean-up has been completed.

No Major Remodeling
The Elks and ACA have been shut down since the conclusion of the 1957-58 season. Hahn's was open for bowling all summer after being closed for a week in May.

There was no major remodeling. Hahn's, whose manager, George Hahn, Jr., is starting his seventh season, installed range finders on all lanes for bowler positioning and also put in acoustical ceilings. "The range finders should definitely help the scores of spot bowlers," Hahn believes.

Hahn's again will play host to the Appleton city tournament the week of Feb. 21-March 1. It is the second time the city tourney will be held before the close of the league season. Open kegling at Hahn's is Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Newcomers Circuit
In addition to the listed leagues, the Elks alleys will probably once more be the site for activity in the afternoon Appleton Vocational school and Lawrence college bowling wheels. Lawrence women's bowling classes may also be held at the Elks in the mornings.

The lone new loop in the

Viking Gridders Begin Practice Wednesday

Wednesday, the 1958 Lawrence college football team will begin preparations for its 8-game Midwest conference schedule.

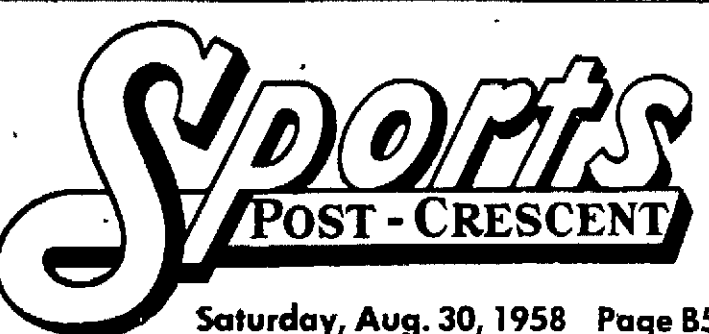

Equipment will be issued Tuesday. Head Coach Bernie Heselson reports.

A maximum of 15 lettermen—including six holdover regulars—will be available to Heselson and his assistants. Don Boya and Gene Davis. Invitations were sent to some 40 candidates.

Preliminary plans call for a 2-a-day practice schedule through Aug. 13. The Vikings' morning sessions will start at about 9 o'clock, and the afternoon workouts at 3.

The Vikings open the season at home Sept. 20 against Coe. Returning regulars include co-captains Carl Schwendler (tackle) and Dave Mulford (halfback), center Dave

20,000 Fans Expected To Watch Packers' Home Debut Monday

'New Look' Eagles Will Invade City Stadium

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay—Fans' curiosity about what the 1958 Packers are like will be satisfied at 4:30 Monday afternoon when the Bays tangle with the Philadelphia Eagles in a non-championship game in City stadium.

Packerland has been wondering about the team ever since Ray McLean succeeded "Liz" Blackburn as head coach last January. Monday's fracas won't provide all the answers but certainly the change to a new regime—the fourth in the 40-year history of the Packers—will be noticeable.

A crowd of more than 20,000 fans is expected—with reasonable weather. The kickoff was set at 4:30 to give returning vacationers an opportunity to see the 1958 home town grid opener.

Monday's game could be labeled as the Packer's official starting test since the Packer-Steelers game in Milwaukee a week ago Wednesday night was washed down the drain, so to speak. A deluge ruined just about every opportunity for the Packer staff to evaluate the material, the Steelers won, 3-0.

A Fierce Test
The Eagles will give Green Bay a fierce test since they already have played two games beating Baltimore, 30-

Coe Cage Coach Schulz Resigns

Cedar Rapids, Iowa — (P) — Bob Schulz, Coe college basketball coach for the last two years and assistant in football said today he had resigned to accept a public relations position.

He said he will work for the Petroleum Industries committee in Des Moines.

Coe tied for the Midwest conference basketball title the two seasons Schulz was head coach.

Want More Time

Three of the seven board members nevertheless said they wanted more time to study the proposal despite its earlier approval in the city council by an 11-2 ballot.

Bonds for city financing of the stadium, which was built with private funds, would not be issued unless and until a contract is signed with a major league team.

Gerald Moore, president of the Metropolitan Stadium commission, said that group was undisturbed by failure of the Washington club's directors to act to move the team here immediately. He said the meeting in Washington Friday was just another step in the negotiations and that he had talked to Club President Calvin Griffith and knew what was going on.

Until the board's delay, no solid opposition to the bond issue had been recorded. The bond proceeds would be used mainly to expand the stadium from 21,000 seats to 41,000.

Pascual Hits 2 Homers In 6-3 Win

Winona, Minn. — With a series sweep at Winona under their belts, the Fox Cities invade Burlington, Iowa, tonight to begin a desperation bid to escape the Three - 1 league cellar.

The Foxes, who are five games behind Burlington, play the Bees five games in the next three days. Doubleheaders are scheduled for tonight and Sunday night, with a single game Monday night.

The Foxes came back strong in the last three innings Friday night to post a 6-3 win over Bob Hoffman and the A's. It was third straight victory over Winona, which had swept a 4-game series from the Foxes here Aug. 22-25.

Slugging Carlos Pascual, the league's leading batter, hit two solo homers to help Berto Cueto to his second win in three decisions.

In the first six innings, the Foxes had only two base runners, as the A's took a 2-0 lead. Dick Howser hit a lead-off homer in the first and Jackie Brathwaite's sacrifice fly scored another in the fourth.

McLean plans to give every Packer who is physically able to move violently an opportunity to play. This will exclude Ron Kramer who just reported last Sunday and is still testing his injured left leg; Mike Hudock, new center who has 28, and losing to the Chicago Bears in the mud, 3-0.

Philadelphia has a new coach "Buck" Shaw, the former San Francisco mentor, and a new quarterback, Norm Van Brocklin late of Los Angeles. More important, the team has a red-hot spirit.

Each team has nearly 20 players who will be going all out for a chance to stick. Under league rules the clubs must cut to 43 players (not counting service returnees) by Tuesday.

Friend Notches No. 18 as Bucs Top Braves, 3-2

Aaron Raises Average to .339 With 4-for-4

Milwaukee — (P) — As Hank Aaron goes, so go the Braves may be true most of the time, but it wasn't Friday night.

Aaron went 4-for-4 to raise his batting average to .339—only two points below Stan Musial's National league leading mark—but the pace setting Braves bowed to Pittsburgh, 3-2.

The defeat left the second place Pirates 6 1/2 games behind Milwaukee with 27 to play and served notice that where there's life, there's hope.

Friend Wins
Bob Friend bagged the victory, his 18th against 13 defeats and his fourth at the expense of the Braves against only one setback. Friend's previous high point in baseball was 17 triumphs last season. He now is tops in the league.

He needed help in the ninth and got it from southpaw Don Gross who threw a double play pitch to Wes Covington and got Frank Torre on a ground ball to stifle a Braves' threat.

Warren Spahn, who was shooting for his 18th victory, absorbed defeat No. 10 instead.

Homers
Home runs accounted for three of the five runs scored in the game, witnessed by 35,642 at County stadium.

Dick Stuart and Bob Skinner rapped Nos. 14 and 11, respectively, while Eddie Mathews hit his 28th for the Braves. All came with the bases empty.

Stuart's homer in the first and Skinner's in the fourth gave Friend a 2-0 lead. The Braves scratched out one in their half of the fourth on Aaron's single, Covington's double and Torre's forceout.

Throws Too Late
The Pirates loaded the bases with none out in the seventh, but scored only one run—the deciding one. Infield singles by Skinner and Frank Thomas and Bill Mazeroski's sacrifice on which Del Cran-

Sid Watson's Two TDs Help Redskins Win

Browns Beat LA On Lou Groza's 50-Yard Field Goal

By the Associated Press

Halfback Sid Watson, a disc from the Pittsburgh Steelers, scored two touchdowns for Washington Friday night as the Redskins whipped the Baltimore Colts, 27-7, in a National Football League exhibition at Baltimore.

In other NFL exhibitions, Friday night, the Detroit Lions downed the New York Giants, 26-7, and the Cleveland Browns beat the Los Angeles Rams, 13-10.

Field Goal Wins

Lou Groza kicked a 50-yard field goal with 15 seconds left in the game at Los Angeles to boost the Browns to victory. Earlier in the final period Groza had booted a 13-yard field goal to pull the Browns into a 10-10 tie. A crowd of 41,387, the largest in the Browns' history, watched the Browns take their second victory in three pre-season games. The Rams also have a 2-1 record.

An enthusiastic crowd of 33,900 in Detroit's Briggs stadium watched Yale Larry and Jim David score Lions' touchdowns on pass interceptions. Meanwhile Roger Zatkoff got the Lions two points when he tackled New York's Gifford in the end zone for a safety. Mel Triplett, former Toledo star, scored New York's lone touchdown on a 2-yard plunge six plays after Cliff Livingston pounced on a Detroit fumble on the Lions' 31.

Ford Frick Calls Meeting to Plan '58 World Series

New York — Plans for the World Series will be worked out in Chicago the afternoon of Monday, Sept. 8. Commissioner Ford Frick said Friday.

He previously had called for the annual joint meeting of the American and National league owners for Tuesday, Sept. 9.

With Milwaukee and New York Yankees holding big leads in the National and American leagues, respectively, the same schedule used in 1957 would prevail for the 1958 season.

That would call for a start on Wednesday, Oct. 1, in Milwaukee, with prizes were awarded during the second and fifth the post-golfing dinner at the games.

Sore-Armed Ford Quits After Facing First Two Batters

(From AP Dispatches)

"I'm worried," says Casey Stengel, and that's not quite as preposterous as it sounds. He reportedly has another 2-year contract waiting for him as manager of the New York Yankees at $80,000 a year. And he has a still breezy 10th game lead en route to his ninth American league pennant.

But, at the moment, he does not have Whitey Ford. The Yankees' stubby southpaw ace (14-7) is on the shelf with a sore arm. Ford is downed the New York Giants, 4 to 1, and the Cleveland Browns beat the Los Angeles Rams, 13-10.

Reds Mobilized for Intellectual Battle; Education Big Key

Visitor Says U. S. Curricula Should Aim at More Understanding

BY JAMES E. GUNN

This was the dominant impression brought back from the totally mobilized country with a single direction of purpose. "When you are in the USSR you feel that you are in a battle. The people are mobilized for battle. They are convinced that within their lifetimes the Soviet Union will become the major world power and this triumph will come by way of economic growth and intellectual development — through industry and education."

Soviet Union by Dr. Franklin D. Murphy, Chancellor of the University of Kansas, who has just returned from a 3-weeks inspection of the USSR system of higher education. He was accompanied by six other heads of U. S. universities.

"The Soviets have put up big posters all over the USSR. The posters are well done and effective. They don't sell movies or soap. They sell the competition between the Soviet Union and the rest of the world. The posters have graphs on them that compare the '57 wheat production of the USSR with that of the United States, or steel production or the production of farm machinery. And the posters contain a promise that in 5 years or 10 years the USSR will be ahead. "We have shut our eyes to the truth too long. This is not a house of cards. The Soviets have, not the Aluminum Company of America.

Experts have pinned their hopes on a revolution when the Soviet people became fully aware of what is going on.

"I came away with the conviction that there is going to be no violent revolution in the Soviet Union. I met no one who felt that the system was so wrong that it was necessary to tear down everything that has been built in order to get rid of it."

There is no evidence of real unrest because of the lack of consumer goods. The people say, "We can wait for these things. In a few years we will produce more than the United States."

"It is obvious, for instance, that the Soviet people have set out to be the most articulate people in the world."

The emphasis on foreign language study is relatively new in the USSR — it's only about 10 years old — and the children who started language study in the beginning of their 10-year-school training are just now reaching the universities.

American education will fall down badly for the individual and for the country, Dr. Murphy predicted, unless we develop curricula from which our young people can derive an understanding of other countries and the forces shaping our world.

"If they study us, shouldn't we study them—their languages and their cultures? This can be done and still keep a balanced schedule. We can plan a busier school day, organize it better. We must put to work the 'goof-off,' the student who is allowed to waste his time and his opportunity."

More Institutes

"At the college level we need more institutes to learn the languages and cultures of other peoples."

There is a tremendous amount the U. S. can learn from the USSR, Dr. Murphy pointed out—the organization of research, for instance.

Dr. Murphy expressed a desperate hope that this nation, within its concepts of individual freedom, can develop a new fervor — "the kind of fervor we had when we were developing our physical frontier. I hope that we can capture the vision that there are new frontiers of the intellect."

The Soviet people have done it, and for this vision they have sacrificed much of their personal freedom.

"The key question of the 20th century is: 'Can a free people such as our own recapture our fervor and remain free?'"

"The gauntlet must be laid down to the American peo-

Alabama Police Kill Teenage Negro Youth

Montgomery, Ala.—(AP)—Police who sought to arrest a teenage Negro on a complaint he was trying to date a white woman, shot and killed the youth Thursday as he scuffled with them.

The shooting occurred at a restaurant where the youth, 17-year-old Gus Foster of Montgomery, was janitor.

The shooting was ruled justifiable homicide by Coroner M. B. Kirkpatrick.

The Soviets know it. Most of us don't. Most of us don't even know the grounds on which the battle will be waged."

Madame Chiang Pooh-Poohs Red Empire Market

Los Angeles —(AP)— Mme. Chiang Kai-shek says "the great potential of the Russian empire market is a chimera."

The wife of the Chinese nationalist leader, speaking at the American Bar association annual dinner Thursday night, termed a mistaken belief the theory that "in the new Russian empire lies a great new untapped market."

The Chinese communists, she said, "would certainly buy only capital goods or raw materials which Russia for the moment cannot supply.

"For these goods one can count on the glad hand, the big smile, and the most magnificent fairy godfather approach. But for how long? "Only as long as the Soviet world finds the goods indispensable."

Mme. Chiang also referred to current communist moves. "At this moment," she said, "the Chinese communists under the order of the Kremlin are continuing military action against Quemoy and Matsu as a deliberate and direct answer to President Eisenhower's efforts to have world peace."
